

Thanksgiving Storm Plowing East Today

By ASSOCIATED PRESS
A storm that covered portions of the nation with up to a foot of snow and left holiday motorists in miles-long traffic jams in some areas plowed eastward today, aiming at the Great Lakes and upper New York state.

More than 400 persons died on the nation's highways and streets during the Thanksgiving holiday period, which ended at midnight local time Sunday. Before the holiday weekend began, the National Safety Council had predicted that between 400 and 500 persons would be killed in traffic accidents during the period, which began at 6 p.m., local time, Wednesday.

The National Weather Service said the storm — "a tight band of precipitation" — was weakening as it moved toward the East Coast at 30 to 35 mph.

Travel advisories were in effect today for Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Michigan and large portions of New York state, Ohio and New England. Motorists in other sections of the East were warned about possibly dangerous driving on mountain roads.

Three to five inches of snow was expected today in parts of New York state and northwest Pennsylvania.

Snow was expected to mix with sleet and rain over much of the East today. By tonight, the storm's center was to swing to the north, through Vermont and into Maine.

On Sunday, five people were killed when an airplane crashed into a snow-covered Indiana farm field as the storm was passing.

Slick roads caused at least two traffic fatalities in Ohio and one in Kentucky Sunday.

Travelers and residents in Kentucky were dealing with up to 12 inches of snow that fell Sunday, paralyzing traffic and filling motels. At least 30 school systems were closed today.

The most severe traffic jam in Kentucky occurred on Interstate 75 near Corinth. State police said the highway was backed up for 12 miles in both directions for about four hours. Some of the backed-up vehicles ran out of gasoline before traffic was unstarted, police said.

Most of the state received four to eight inches of snow before precipitation tapered off into snow flurries Sunday night.

Traffic accidents were so common in Cincinnati, where four inches of snow fell Sunday, that police told drivers involved in minor collisions to exchange notes and tell authorities about the wrecks later.

In Michigan, state police said roads in the lower two-thirds of the state were snow-swept. Drivers returning home from holiday trips faced three to five inches of snow and temperatures in the 20s.

Heavy snow storms stalled traffic on Cleveland's lakefront shoreway Sunday, interfering with the operation of salt trucks.

In the mountains of Virginia and West Virginia, snow up to 16 inches deep blocked most mountain roads. But most primary roads remained open to cars with snow tires or chains.

A Pacific front in the Rockies continued moving eastward. Rain and isolated snow showers ranged from eastern Washington state and western Montana to Utah and Colorado. No significant snowfall amounts were reported. Showers and thunderstorms stretched from eastern Texas into the Carolinas, with the most intense activity in the Gulf Coast states.

Very light showers were also reported over extreme northwestern California, portions of northern New Mexico and the Texas-Oklahoma panhandle area.

Sadat Pushes Meeting Despite Snub By Arabs

By NICOLAS B. TATRO
Associated Press Writer
CAIRO, Egypt (AP) — President Anwar Sadat is pressing ahead with his plans for a preliminary Arab-Israeli conference in Cairo although so far only Israel has said it would attend.

Syria, Israel's other military adversary, joined Libya and Algeria in lining up a rival meeting of Sadat's Arab opponents. The Egyptian president said he would negotiate "with the Israelis alone" if other Arab nations refused to come to Cairo.

Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin accepted Sadat's invitation before receiving the formal bid. But he warned that no Israeli delegation would negotiate with the Palestine Liberation Organization "whether it is in Geneva or Cairo or the moon."

Begin was to make a major policy speech today in the Israeli parliament reviewing developments since Sadat's groundbreaking trip to Israel last weekend. He was not expected to shift from his rejection of the two key Arab demands: a Palestinian state on the West Bank of the Jordan River and the return of all territory Israel occupied during the 1967 Arab-Israeli war.

In a speech in the Egyptian parliament Saturday, Sadat invited Israel, the United States, the Soviet Union, Syria, Lebanon and Jordan to prepare for Geneva at roundtable discussions in Cairo next week. Egyptian Foreign Minister Butros B. Ghali sent out the invitations on Sunday.

Sadat said the Cairo meeting could start as early as Saturday.

Hole-In-Ground Home Has Him Happy, Healthy

SEATTLE (AP) — Glenn Martin figured he had dug himself into a hole with too much eating, drinking and working. So he dug another hole into which he dropped an old bus — and his high blood pressure.

The buried bus has become his home.

"I was a food-o-holic and a work-o-holic most of my life and it damn near killed me," Martin said.

A retired construction worker who is about 60 years old, Martin had decided it was time for a change after he ate his way to 320 pounds and dangerously high blood pressure.

He says he could have started taking tranquilizers to relax, but chose instead to start digging a hole, three hours a day, by hand.

When the hole had reached 9 by 50 feet last month, Martin had an old bus dropped in. Then he covered it with six inches of soil.

Finally, he moved in. "It's a place to get away from it all," he said of his residence just east of the Duwamish River south of Seattle.

Martin says the digging beat tranquilizers as a way to unwind. He has a home blood-pressure measuring device, and says he has noted improvements.

Martin says he uses about one gallon of water daily in the bus, gets heat and light from candles and propane, and has

BERRIEN HARDEST HIT BY SNOW Area Residents Dig Out Again

By AL AREND
Staff Writer

Another two to six inches of snow fell on southwestern Michigan Sunday just after area residents had spent most of Saturday digging out from the season's first major snow storm.

Once again, Berrien County was the hardest hit with most areas reporting from four to six inches of new snow. Friday, the area was belted with six to 12 inches of snow with the Twin Cities area receiving the most.

The early taste of winter was hard to swallow for many as hazardous road conditions hampered return trips home from the Thanksgiving holiday weekend.

Police agencies throughout the four-county area reported hundreds of fender-bender accidents over the weekend. Three traffic fatalities were also attributed to the weather, including an Indianapolis semi-truck driver who skidded off US-31, flipping his rig, just south of Holland in Allegan County, Saturday.

Lutheran in Stevensville, Grace Lutheran and Trinity Lutheran in St. Joseph, Gard Trainable and Riverswood Pre-school Treatment program in St. Joseph.

Tonight's forecast calls for snow flurries with lows in the 10-15 range. Tuesday's forecast calls for partly cloudy skies with a chance of snow with highs in the low to mid-30's. Chance of measurable precipitation is less than 20 percent tonight and 30 percent Tuesday.

Cass and Van Buren County Road Commission officials said their areas received another two to three inches of snow Sunday. Those areas, farther away from Lake Michigan, generally received from three to six inches Friday.

Herb Teichman, Eau Claire fruit grower who operates a weather reporting substation at his farm, one-mile northeast of Eau Claire, said "we're carrying about seven inches on the ground now," after receiving another inch last night.

The Associated Press reported travelers' advisories remained in effect today as snow fell over most of the state.

Around the state, state police said roads in the lower two-thirds of Michigan were snow-covered and slippery, particularly in the southwestern regions. Freezing drizzle was forecast for the southeast this morning, with an additional one to two inches of snow expected for both peninsulas.

The weather was blamed for several fatalities, including the deaths of two young boys who died Friday when their sled careened in front of a car near Rockford in Kent County.

An elderly resident of a Coldwater convalescent home was found dead in a roadside ditch after wandering away from the home clad only in light clothing in Saturday's 16-degree temperature.

The snow and cold also hampered the search for a 16-year-old Warren youth missing in Kalamazoo County since Friday. Larry Wycoff became separated from his companions while hunting in a densely wooded, swampy area, deputies said.

Five people, four of them young children, died in two separate fires over the weekend. The cause of the blazes remained under investigation, but police said one apparently started near a fireplace.

Many police departments warned drivers to travel only if absolutely necessary because of blowing snow and slippery pavements.

The National Weather Service recorded 8 inches of new snow at Metropolitan Airport in Romulus near Detroit from noon Sunday until the fall tapered off to flurries early this morning. Runway snow plows kept the airport open, but many flights were delayed because of snags in other storm-struck cities.

Detroit City Airport was closed briefly Sunday afternoon.

Were it left to me to decide whether we should have government without newspapers or newspapers without government, I should not hesitate to prefer the latter. — Thomas Jefferson.

White House, Congress Play Old Shell Game

Whatever happened to the theme that what the people wanted was a halt to the growth of big government and less regulation of their personal and business affairs? It was a theme popularly received in the last presidential election.

But much that Congress and the administration have proposed or acted upon this year has been directed toward an expansion of government authority, higher taxation and greater restriction of the free market economy. Rather than permit the free market to act against the energy threat, as it would if permitted, the administration has proposed instead greater regulation and higher taxes.

Instead of helping the business community compete more successfully against an increasing flood of foreign goods, this Congress has responded to the need for more jobs and greater productivity by making the creation of jobs more expensive through higher minimum wage legislation and higher payroll taxes. On top of that, both the administration and Congress are on record as favoring a mammoth new federal undertaking, under the modified Humphrey-Hawkins bill, to "create" an unemployment rate of only 4 percent by 1983. Once again the emphasis is on massive federal pump-priming — threatening a resurgence of inflation — rather than removing government obstacles to the growth of private industry and the meaningful jobs it supports.

If "truth in packaging" rules ever were applied to legislation, much of what has been proposed or completed in 1977 could be stamped "fraud."

Hughes 'Mormon Will' Trial Is Opening Today

By JOHN M. WILLIS
Associated Press Writer
LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Trial begins today on a complicated question that could decide the fortunes of some relatives of Howard Hughes and of a young man in Utah who says he once gave the wealthy recluse a ride in the Nevada desert.

The question is the validity of the so-called "Mormon Will" — a three-page handwritten document dated March 19, 1968, and purporting to be the last will and testament of Hughes, who lived at the time in a penthouse suite of a Las Vegas hotel.

The person offering the will for probate in Clark County District Court is Noah Dietrich, once the closest aide to Hughes before a falling out in the 1960s. Dietrich was named executor in the will.

The most intriguing bequest in the will is to Melvin Dummar, who was a service station operator in Willard, Utah, when the will turned up about three weeks after Hughes died April 5, 1966. The will leaves Dummar one-sixteenth of Hughes's estate.

The will makes little mention of Hughes's relatives but leaves part of Hughes's estate to the Howard Hughes Medical Foundation in Florida, several universities, the Mormon Church — and to Dummar.

At the trial, Dietrich's attorney, Harold Rhoden of Beverly Hills, is expected to present handwriting experts who will say Hughes wrote the will. Rhoden is also expected to call Dummar to testify.

The relatives of Hughes say the Mormon Will is a forgery, and that they have handwriting experts who will testify to that. Dummar at first denied having had any knowledge of the will before it mysteriously surfaced at the headquarters of the Mormon Church.

The Mormon will is only one of a number of purported Hughes wills that have turned up since Hughes died, and it has become the subject of legal proceedings in three states — Texas, Nevada and California.

One of the unresolved questions is in which state Hughes resided at the time of his death.

None of the other purported wills has been given a serious test in court yet. The Hughes estate, after a huge tax bite, would go to his relatives if no will is ruled valid.

A jury of five men and three women has been selected to hear the case, which is expected to last six to eight months.

Rhoden has been appointed special executor because Dietrich is in his 80s.

As to why he was named in the will, Dummar says he picked up a bedraggled old man in the Nevada desert about 10 years ago and gave him a ride to Las Vegas. The man identified himself as Hughes and apparently was very grateful. Dummar has said.

Public Workers
Hit Buzz Saw

SAN FRANCISCO — A trio of ballot propositions rejected in the recent municipal election here attracted little attention outside this city, but the vote was a harbinger of a far more important contest expected next spring.

At issue is the growing controversy over the wages, working conditions and right to strike of the public employees on the payrolls of the state and municipal governments throughout the nation.

Recent years have seen strikes on the part of school teachers, firemen, policemen and other government workers in New York, Chicago, Baltimore, Seattle and other major cities.

But nowhere has the issue provoked more bitterness than in San Francisco, a city whose erstwhile reputation as a staunch "labor town" has been replaced by widespread citizen hostility toward municipal employees perceived as arrogant, insensitive and greedy.

It began with a 1975 strike of police officers and fire fighters, resolved only after then-Mayor Joseph Alioto declared a state of emergency, then agreed to most of the unions' demands while threatened by a general strike.

The backlash generated by that confrontation came only a few months later, when city voters overwhelmingly approved ballot propositions imposing unprecedented restrictions on municipal employees.

In the spring of 1976, the city's craft workers walked off their jobs to protest a salary cut. A threatened general strike again failed to materialize and the employees returned to work 39 days later — without the additional pay they sought.

Six months later, an angered electorate approved another ballot proposition, flatly prohibiting future strikes by municipal workers. That law also contained an unusual provision for dealing with unresolved contract disputes in the future.

The city government's final offer would automatically go into effect at the beginning of a new contract period, but the unions could gain acceptance of their demands by securing voter approval in the next election.

This autumn's balloting provided the first test of that approach when the city-employed plumbers, electricians and sheetmetal workers sought public endorsement of their proposed wages and working conditions.

Each of these three ballot measures was defeated by margins of more than 4-1. In fact, none of the propositions could muster an affirmative vote of more than 18 percent.

The debate probably will soon spread far beyond San Francisco because a committee headed by San Diego Mayor Pete Wilson currently is collecting the approximately 500,000 signatures necessary to place a ballot proposition before the voters of the entire state in the June 1978 elections.

That measure is so broad and tough (it prohibits even binding arbitration to settle municipal labor disputes) that some critics of public employees are concerned about its chances for passage.

Among its provisions: Public employee strikes are forbidden; those who violate the prohibition face immediate mandatory dismissal and if they should ever again get a government job in the state they must forsake all accumulated tenure and seniority.

In the unlikely event of a strike, the employer is not allowed to improve or "sweeten" the last pre-walkout offer. Thus, it's legally impossible for strikers to achieve any contract improvements.

A Schlafly In Percy Ointment

WASHINGTON — No sooner had the big showdown in Houston turned into an unexpectedly successful showcase for women's rights than a new threat to the movement appeared.

Phyllis Schlafly, 52, an enemy of every major proposal endorsed by the women's conference to end legal, social and economic discrimination based on sex, revealed that she will decide this weekend whether to challenge Sen. Charles Percy in the Illinois Republican primary next March.

If Schlafly runs as expected, and is elected, she would become the only woman in the U.S. Senate. It could be a devastating blow to the women's movement to have the only female voice in the Senate raised in opposition to legislation designed to help women progress from the kitchen into the marketplace of ideas and to correct old laws that treat women unfairly.

Schlafly's move was a painful reminder that rhetoric and demonstrations may be good for the soul but are no match for plain old political clout. One woman — at least this woman, versed in the emotional buzz words that reach conservative minds — could undo in the Senate all that hundreds of thousands of women have labored to achieve.

The test now for the equal rights movement will be whether both leaders and followers recognize the national symbolic significance of a Schlafly victory or defeat, and work effectively to support a male candidate — something which they have never done well before.

Before Schlafly began concentrating on destroying the women's movement, she specialized in attacking both male and female non-conservatives, particularly those in her own Republican Party. She was an early Goldwater polemicist, and unlike the 1964 presidential nominee, who has mellowed in some areas, she remains as hard-line as ever. She is on the board of directors of the American Conservative Union. A wide spectrum of conservative organizations have supported her campaign against equal rights for women.

Percy, 58, a moderate who supports the Equal Rights Amendment and believes that abortion should be decided strictly between a woman and her doctor, has had trouble with the Illinois right-wing ever since he defeated the failed Paul Douglas in 1966. His presidential ambitions in 1968 were thwarted in large part by his inability to control his own delegation, dominated by ultraconservatives. In the end, he supported Gov. Nelson Rockefeller, which did not help him with Illinois conservatives.

Schlafly, who has been circulating nominating petitions but has until December 19 to file her candidacy, can count on substantial financing from conservative sources. Percy, however, has already collected a $300,000 kitty from an October fund-raising dinner, and can probably match her in expenditures.

In addition to women's rights, Schlafly can be expected to push Percy hard on foreign policy. She opposes the Panama Canal treaties; he is undecided (but will probably have to vote on the issue before the March primary). She thinks the U.S. sold out to the Communists with SALT I; he approved of the deal.

Is Nation's Fabled Technology Slipping?

As Washington and Tokyo become more deeply involved in the trade dispute between the two nations, caused by Japan's growing trade surplus in its dealings with the U.S., a few farsighted individuals are beginning to ask more penetrating questions.

Has the steam gone out of American inventiveness? Are other industrial nations gaining on such important factors as productivity and research? It is difficult to believe that could happen, considering the leadership role long played by the U.S. in scientific and technological advances. But there is some evidence that lead could be softening.

Last year the National Science Foundation sent Congress a report indicating that the United States, while still ahead in scientific and technological pursuits, had been slipping since the 1950s. Cited as one indicator was the fact the U.S. has been spending a declining percentage of its gross national product on research and development while nations like Japan, West Germany and the Soviet Union have been increasing their outlays for this purpose.

Also noted was the fact that more than 30 percent of the patents issued by the U.S. Patent Office now go to foreign inventors. Changes of this nature generally are slow to occur, but unless reversed they can have a long lasting effect on the respective economies of the competing nations.

While the immediate effects of the trade imbalance between Japan and the U.S. are serious, a permanent solution for the U.S. may not be found until more attention is paid to the causes.

Fired BH Manager Given Reprieve

BY MIKE WYNGARDEN
Staff Writer
Benton Harbor City Commissioners have given the city manager's job back to Melvin Farmer Jr. with a notice that in 60 days his performance will come under an "intensive evaluation."

The commission voted unanimously at a special meeting Saturday to rescind its action of firing Farmer at the Nov. 21 commission meeting.

The commission reconsidered the firing after City Atty. K. Morris Gavin told commissioners the firing could be overturned by the courts because the state's new Open Meetings Act was not followed.

The commission took the vote Saturday with little discussion, but some 40 people attending the meeting questioned commissioners about the original firing for more than an hour. Several members of the audience charged the vote to fire Farmer, who is black, was racially motivated.

The resolution approved by the commission Saturday rescinds the firing and also states Farmer "is hereby notified that on or about 60 days from the enactment of this resolution, the city commission intends to conduct an intensive evaluation of his performance from and after his initial date of employment."

Asked after the meeting why commissioners decided to take that course of action, Mayor Joel Patterson said: "I felt that there were people in the community who felt that the (firing) action was maybe swift or thought Farmer was unaware."

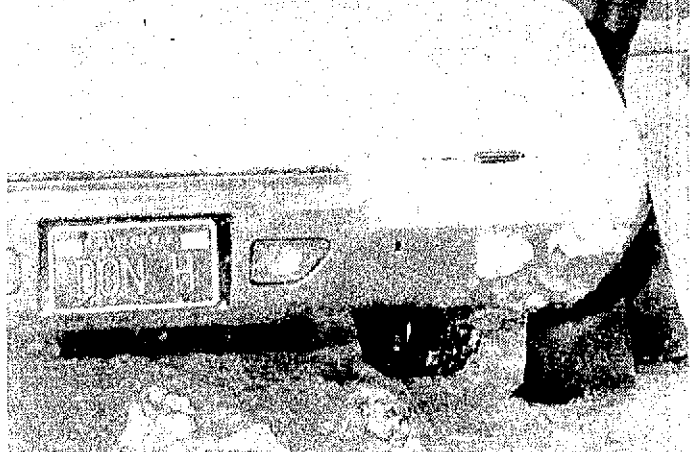

Patterson, who voted for the original firing of Farmer, also noted that the vote for the firing was close and said the 60-day arrangement may "put everyone in a better position to be more conclusive about their opinions."

After a three-hour closed-door meeting Nov. 21, the commission voted 5 to 4 to fire Farmer for allegedly not doing an effective job. Gavin told commissioners Wednesday that the discussion about Farmer's job conduct should not have been held behind closed doors unless Farmer requested the closed meeting. He did not.

Benton Motorist Injured

A Benton Township man sustained a broken leg Saturday when he was pinned between his car and another while attempting to stop his auto from rolling backward.

The Herald-Palladium was also criticized by several members of the audience for an editorial in the Nov. 21 edition of the newspaper which supported the majority blue of commissioners in voting to fire Farmer.

Listed in "stable" condition this morning at Benton Harbor Mercy Hospital was Ivory Ward, 26, of 1153 Union St. Police said Ward was injured about 4:17 p.m. when pinned between the two cars on Highland near Birdie Avenue.

WINTER BEAUTY: The same hand of nature that clogs roads and driveways with snow, also can paint pictures of infinite beauty. This scene at home of Mrs. Joan Emrlong, 1807 Forres Ave., St. Joseph, would be worthy of reproduction on Christmas cards.

Kris' BH Fund Stands At $443

One week since the Benton Harbor Good Fellows opened the annual Christmas Fund drive and there is $443 on hand. That, friends, means there's a long way to go if Santa is going to meet all the needs that face him here this Christmas.

South African Police Fire On Black Mourners

JOHANNESBURG. South Africa (AP) — Police wounded three persons when they opened fire on mourners at the funeral of an 18-year-old black who died in jail, the Rand Daily Mail reported today.

According to officers, Ward stopped his auto and got out, and another car, driven by Joseph A. Singleton, 52, of 1153 Highland, stopped behind. Police said that the Ward car began rolling backward and Ward went behind it in an effort to stop the vehicle. Police said no tickets were issued.

Sleeping Pill Warning Issued

WASHINGTON (AP) — People having trouble falling asleep shouldn't automatically reach for the bottle of sleeping pills. It can be dangerous and fatal, warns the director of the National Institute of Drug Abuse.

Two donors put in their appearance today. The Twin City Duplicate Club came through with $5.

Watervliet Salaries Are Hearing Topic

WATERVLIET — The Watervliet Compensation Commission will hold a public hearing Thursday at 7 p.m. at City Hall here on salaries for elected public officials. According to George Lawton, secretary of the compensation commission, residents will be able to comment on salaries and per-meeting pay rates. Officials whose salaries are decided by the commission include the mayor, city commissioners, treasurer, assessor, clerk and board of review members.

And the other identified himself only as "A Friend". He sent in $15 and said it was in memory of one of those great teachers for which Benton Harbor high school was known in the days he was a student. The teacher was the late Edith Kendall, who taught English and German to two generations of BHHS students.

VISITS IN ITALY

Form Council On Inerrancy

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Several evangelical scholars have joined in forming an International Council on Biblical Inerrancy to carry on a 10-year effort to study and defend the doctrine of biblical inerrancy and to educate fellow believers of its importance. The Rev. Dr. Jay Grimstead, a graduate of Fuller Theological Seminary and formerly on the staff of Young Life, is the new council's executive director.

Blohm, Mrs. Don Davenport, Mrs. Earle Mays, Mrs. Frank McKenna and Mrs. Karl Schlafli.

ST. JOSEPH AUXILIARY TO CHILD AND FAMILY SERVICES OF MICHIGAN will meet Friday, Dec. 2, at 1 p.m. at Berrien Hills Country Club, Benton Harbor. Chairmen will be Mrs. Alfred Zick and Mrs. Karl Simon.

VETERANS OF WORLD WAR I BARRACKS 582 AND LADIES AUXILIARY will meet for the annual Christmas dinner Saturday, Dec. 3, at Memorial Hall, St. Joseph. Dinner will be at 12:30 p.m., and a business meeting will be at 2 p.m. The dinner committee includes Mrs. Guy Babinger, Mrs. Ralph LaCombe and Mrs. Evelyn Edinger.

Apples Make Good Snack

Buy a good supply of crisp and juicy Golden Delicious apples to have on hand for snacking. The kids will love them as an after-school treat with crackers or homemade cookies. As a snack for TV viewers, serve with sharp cheddar or swiss cheese. They're also an ideal lunch box dessert.

Weekend Celebrations

MR. AND MRS. LEONARD BURROUS

COVERT — Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Burrous of Covert will be honored at an open house Saturday, Dec. 3, in celebration of their 50th wedding anniversary. Friends and relatives are invited to the event which will be held from 3 to 5 p.m. at the Church of God, South Haven. Leonard Burrous and the former Inez Mason were married Dec. 3, 1927, in Covert. The couple has three sons, William Burrous of South Haven and Cecil and Donald Burrous of Covert; seven grandchildren, and four great-grandchildren.

MR. AND MRS. ALBERT SCHULER SR.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Schuler Sr., 331 Kublick Drive, Benton Harbor, will be honored at a dinner reception Saturday, Dec. 3, at Benton Harbor Ramada Inn in celebration of their 60th wedding anniversary.

Season To Be Jolly

"Tis the season to be jolly — or is it? It's not necessarily so, says Dr. Wayne Dyer, author of the best seller "Your Erroneous Zones," in the Dec. 13 issue of Family Circle. According to the doctor, for many, Christmas is the season for suicide, depression and pill popping.

Fortunately, notes Dr. Dyer, it may only take a change of attitude to make the holiday season a cheerful, happy time. To do so he recommends these positive steps:

— Do away with self-defeating holiday habits. Overeating and getting drunk can make you dislike yourself. Avoid such excesses and you will probably feel good because you have resisted temptation.

— Stop competing. It is not important to have the biggest tree, prettiest lights or even give the best party.

— Make a list of what you dislike about the holidays and stop doing these things. It isn't necessary to send Christmas cards or always be the one to make Christmas dinner.

— Don't think of the holiday season as a long, frantic period. Take it one day at a time.

As Dr. Dyer says in the article, "It really can be the season to be jolly, if you think and behave that way."

'Your Problems' By Ann Landers

'Genius' Needs Counseling

Dear Ann Landers: Your reply to Jerry in Yonkers (who hated work) was interesting. A lot of people hate work and intelligence has nothing to do with it.

I am 26, have a genius IQ, graduated college with honors and have a good bit of common sense. I still hate work and live for the day when I can find a way out of this grind. I am bored to death, even though I'm kept busy. I have many interests and talents which go ignored because I must work. By the time I get home I'm exhausted and have no energy for the things I really want to do.

I'll bet people like you who say they "love" their work have no outside interests or they use work as an escape from unpleasant home life. Personally, I think "work-lovers" have done a super job of brainwashing.

My parents and their parents before them worked hard and they can't stand the thought of anyone getting away without working.

Tell Jerry that, at 23, he should not be controlled by what his parents think. I've been trying to please mine for 26 years and no matter what I do, it's never enough. — Stiffed

Dear Stiffed: I know where you're coming from and the problem is — you're in the wrong job. For a genius (with common sense yet) you're pretty thick-skulled not to see it.

You could also use some counseling. Your letter reflects a negative, sour, unfulfilled approach to life — and at 26, that's the pits, Buddy.

English Clearer

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a senior in high school and am now corresponding with a fellow who went East to an Ivy League college in September. He writes twice a week and I have to go look up words in the dictionary. (He never talked this way when he was home.)

Lately he has started to use phrases like "a fait accompli," "joie de vivre" and "persona non grata."

Should I tell him to cool it, that I AM NOT IMPRESSED WITH HIS FOREIGN LANGUAGE? Or would it be better if I looked up some Latin phrases on my own and gave him back a little of what he is giving me? — Simple Sally

Dear Sal: A Bryn Mawr college student had a similar problem a while back and here is how she handled it. She wrote —

What's pat in Latin Or chic in Greek I always distinguish More clearly in English.

Lazy Susan

Dear Ann: You told the woman who couldn't stand the filthy way her daughter-in-law kept house to look the other way, put a clothespin on her nose and keep her mouth shut. What if it's YOUR house the slob is living in?

My son's wife works from 9 to 5 and so do I. When I come home I have to clean up after her. She refuses to lift a finger. Her husband sees it all but says nothing. My husband gets pretty hot about it but I've asked him to say nothing and keep the peace. What do you think I should do? — Patsy

Dear Patsy: Take the gag out of your husband's mouth and let him be the heavy. He should tell the slob to clean up her act or take it elsewhere.

What's the story on pot, L.S.D., cocaine, uppers and downers, speed? Can you handle it if you're careful? Send for Ann Landers' new booklet, "Straight Dope on Drugs." For each booklet ordered, send a dollar bill, plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope (24 cents postage) to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11995, Chicago, Ill. 60611.

with the exception of when my mother-in-law rode with us and I was relegated to the back seat. After the first two children were born, I sat with my body draped over the back seat so I could lurch and swat. When a third child came along, I sacrificed my front window seat and sat between the other two in the back in (a) accommodate everyone with a window seat and (b) to keep them from killing one another.

After car pools became a way of life, I slid over to the driver's spot behind the steering wheel, a position I held until my knees locked.

I remained there until the children began to drive. Then I moved back to the passenger side where I sat constricted in fear with my right foot on an imaginary brake and both hands on the door handle.

When the children left and we began to see grown-ups once again, I was relegated to the back seat with the other woman where it was assumed we would have more to talk about than the man I married.

Some women tell me it isn't over yet. There's the period when you get grandchildren and they ride up front and you sit in the back with the porta-potty and the playpen, and when your daughter gets older, you end up in the back seat with her again.

"Are you going to stand there all day or are you going to get into the car?" yelled my husband impatiently.

I crawled over the dog (who insists on sitting by the window where he can hang his tongue out of the no-draft) and squeezed in close to my husband. "We've gone complete cycle," I whispered.

He hadn't the foggiest notion what I was talking about.

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I have tried to find cereals that have no preservatives, food coloring, or artificial flavoring. I began eating the Quaker Natural Cereals, but discovered that they used the term "vegetable oil" as one of their ingredients. I wrote to the company asking them if this was coconut oil, and indeed it was. They state that "no cholesterol" is present in Natural Cereal.

Does this mean that it is all right for me to continue with these cereals even though they do contain coconut oil? DEAR READER — I am not fond of the gimmick used by many food companies to state a food has "no cholesterol" when they are using saturated fat in the recipe. It is true that coconut oil and all vegetable products contain no cholesterol, but saturated fat may be even more dangerous. Many scientists think that a high saturated fat intake is a major factor in stimulating your own body to form fatty-cholesterol particles that tend to lodge in the arteries and cause heart and vascular disease.

And, I find it equally distasteful to see a food label of "vegetable oil" which misleads many buyers. All too often, the buyer thinks he is getting a vegetable fat low in saturated fat, when in fact it is coconut oil. To fight back, I recommend to my readers that if the product says "vegetable oil," and doesn't specify what kind or tell you how much saturated fat it contains, just boycott it. That will help to bring the food industry around.

As the letter you sent me really admits, the food industry likes to use coconut oil not because it is good for you, but because it improves the shelf life of the product they are selling. I might add that sometimes it is cheaper.

In defense of Quaker's product, I'll have to agree that the amount of fat it contains is relatively small. A little bit of saturated fat is in almost all foods that contain any fat at all, even in safflower oil.

According to the Quaker figures in the letter you sent me, a half cup serving contains 4.2 grams of saturated fat. That translates into about 38 calories, and if you were eating 2,500 calories a day, 15 per cent of your daily saturated fat allowance. The Inter-Society Commission for Heart Disease Resources recommends that we limit our saturated fat (not total fat) intake to 10 percent of our total calories. About three-and-a-half cups of the Natural Cereal would use your entire daily allowance of saturated fat.

Like many other foods that you can't eat in abundance, you can eat some. So if the rest of your menu is based on lean meats, fish, and poultry, abundant amounts of vegetables without added saturated fat, and other cereals and fruits without added saturated fat, and low-fat dairy products, you can still meet the overall dietary recommendation of limiting your total saturated fat intake to no more than 10 percent of your total calories.

To give you a better idea of the proper dietary recommendations about fats, saturated fats, and cholesterol, I am sending you The Health Letter number 1-3, Diet, Preventing Atherosclerosis. Others who want this issue can send 50 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY.

Of course, many of these problems can be alleviated if all foods were labeled properly. I wish they would also carry the recommended daily intakes along with them as a public service.

Your Birthday

Nov. 28, 1977

Romance is likely in your life this coming year if you are unattached at present. For those who are already matched up, there could be a mutual rekindling of affection.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) There may be someone you admire, but you'll get nowhere by keeping it to yourself. Chances are this person feels the same way about you. Find out to whom you're romantically suited by sending for your copy of Astro-Graph Letter. Mail 50 cents for each and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Astro-Graph, P.O. Box 481, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify your birth sign.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) In partnerships situations or any one-to-one relationships, you really shine today. You act as the cohesive force to bind them together.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Your strong areas today are those where you can demonstrate your creative or artistic ability. Direct your efforts along these lines.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) You guide others today with both wisdom and grace. No one will be offended or feel inferior by following your instructions.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You will take great pains to see that those you love are secure and happy. Your concern hits home.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) In dealing today with anyone who is brusque or abrasive, counter with a compliment. Your charm will be stronger than their asperities.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) This is a good day to seek favors. People are anxious to do things for you, especially those to whom you've been kind in the past.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Popularity and the admiration of others are your dues today. You can tell by the way the crowd gathers around you at social affairs.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Your thoughts are centered more on those you care about than yourself today. You do things for them without expecting them to reciprocate.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) You mix exceptionally well with people in all walks of life. This will be a very fortunate day for you in any dealings with the public.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Career and finances are under sanitary aspects for you today. Something may dovetail to bring you good fortune in both areas.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) A philosophical attitude and a rich good humor stand you in good stead today. It's doubtful anything will arise you can't handle.

Jim: "One of the things that transforms a good player into a great player is the care he takes to employ the right technique."

Oswald: "Here is a hand played some years ago by the late Olive Peterson of Philadelphia to illustrate this. Olive's tournament record included twelve women's and mixed pair and team titles."

Jim: "The bidding was normal although many modern players would have rebid three diamonds instead of two spades."

Oswald: "Olive won the first heart. There was no reason to duck and good reason not to. Then she led dummy's jack of spades and finessed. A second spade had to be won in her hand and it was necessary to go right back to dummy."

Jim: "Here is where Olive made the key play of the hand. She led her king of diamonds and overtook with dummy's ace."

Oswald: "A careless player would have automatically let a low diamond to dummy's jack and wound up with just three diamond tricks."

Jim: "Olive's play could not hurt her. If East held four diamonds to the ten she would have made her contract in any event. With West holding the four diamonds she was able to pick up his ten spot with a finesse."

A Wisconsin reader wants to know what rights dummy loses if he looks at his partner's hand. He loses all rights except that when play is over he can tell his partner how many tricks he made and what the contract was. He cannot claim a revoke or correct a potential lead out of turn.

Golf, Bowling Not Enough For Heart, New Study Finds

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
AP Science Editor
MIAMI (AP) — Really strenuous exercise is good medicine for your heart, but sports like golf and bowling aren't enough, a new study finds.

The study also indicates that a high amount of energy spent each week in physical activity, including walking, could provide some insurance against premature heart attacks.

Spending a high total amount of energy and calories is significant, especially in exercises that demand bursts of energy output, says Dr. Ralph S. Paffenbarger Jr., of the University of California at Berkeley.

But the risk of heart attacks was lower for men engaging in "strenuous sports," while "casual" sports seemed to have no influence, Paffenbarger said. Among strenuous sports, he listed swimming and running, basketball, handball and squash. "Casual" sports included golf, bowling, baseball, softball and volleyball. As for tennis, he said it depends on how it is played.

"Battling the ball around on Sunday with young children generally isn't strenuous, but a stiff competitive game of singles is," he said. Paffenbarger made his comments in remarks prepared for delivery at a scientific session of the American Heart Association today.

He told of research involving some 17,000 male alumni of Harvard University, aged 35 to 74, studied periodically for six to 10 years. In all, they suffered 872 heart attacks, 287 of them fatal.

The research focused on the energy the men spent, in terms of activity such as the number of blocks walked, stairs climbed, sports engaged in and estimation of total calories "burned" each week.

"Heart attack rates declined with increasing activity, whether measured as stairs climbed, blocks walked or strenuous sports. This trend held for all ages and for both non-fatal and fatal attacks."

The more calories the men spent in total activity in a week seemed to relate to less risk of heart attack, he added.

He said the protective effect from being active seemed to hold regardless of whether the men had other risk factors, such as "cigarette smoking, high blood pressure, obesity, parental's heart attacks and prior athleticism."

The task force proposals include expansion of existing birth control services, extension of welfare coverage to unborn children in states that do not now offer it, expanded day care services, more research and creation of a new, comprehensive "Youth and Family Services" program.

By MICHAEL PUTZEL
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — A special task force on teen-age pregnancy has told the Health, Education and Welfare Department that abortions are "essential" to reduce the numbers of high-risk adolescent births.

It was the second task force set up by HEW Secretary Joseph A. Califano Jr. to take a position conflicting with his and President Carter's oft-stated opposition to abortion.

The chairman of the other group, which was established to seek alternatives to abortion, disbanded the panel after concluding that the only real alternatives are "suicide, motherhood and, some would add, madness."

The teen-age pregnancy unit, headed by Peter Schuck, a deputy assistant secretary for planning and evaluation, recommended that the Carter administration spend between $147 million and $251 million to deal with the problems of the nation's estimated 11 million sexually active teen-agers.

The task force proposals include expansion of existing birth control services, extension of welfare coverage to unborn children in states that do not now offer it, expanded day care services, more research and creation of a new, comprehensive "Youth and Family Services" program.

About three million babies are born in the United States each year, nearly 800,000 of them to teen-agers. Of the 1.1 million abortions performed each year, an estimated 300,000 terminate teen-age pregnancies.

The Schuck panel did not specifically include abortion among its wide range of options presented to Califano in a 60-page memorandum. But it said it "considers abortion information, counseling, services and research essential to reduce the numbers of high-risk adolescent births, particularly for younger adolescents."

"Even if federal funding is not available for pregnancy termination, we recommend that health and service providers make available abortion information and counseling and, where appropriate, referrals to and from abortion services, to permit the adolescent a full range of choice and to assist those who do choose to terminate their pregnancy to receive adequate and safe abortion services."

HEW currently is prohibited by law from financing Medicaid abortions for poor women unless their lives are threatened by continued pregnancy. The House and Senate have been deadlocked for months in a dispute over whether to extend those restrictions another year or ease them.

Califano, a Roman Catholic who has said his opposition to abortion is based on religious and ethical beliefs, is virtually alone in his position among top HEW officials.

Last spring, he directed that an interagency task force be set up to seek alternatives to abortion. In a memorandum the department attempted to withhold from the public, the head of that group, Connie J. Downey, said the panel did not have the direction, scope, authority or money necessary to attack the underlying problem of unwanted pregnancies.

State Halts Probe Of Crossing Deaths

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Although 26 people died in Michigan railroad accidents in the first eight months of this year, state officials say they have stopped investigating such fatalities.

Investigations of railroad accidents are now being made by the railroads, state and local police, and federal officials. Federal inspectors probe only the most serious accidents.

Murray Langham of the Michigan highways and transportation department said he ordered a halt to the investigations because his 10 inspectors are not qualified for such work and risk personal injury at accident scenes.

Langham, who heads the department's Model Planning Division, said he acted after federal officials notified him that state inspectors didn't meet federal standards.

Langham said he wants his limited staff to concentrate on reducing a backlog of complaints about dangerous railroad crossings.

Attention was drawn to railroad crossings earlier this month after a Dearborn woman and her son were killed when their car was struck by a speeding train at a crossing in Dearborn Heights. Police said the protective gates were not working.

In the first eight months of 1977, there were 371 accidents at railroad crossings and 26 fatalities. There are 10,000 crossings in the state.

Thomas Harvey, of the Federal Railroad Administration, said nothing prohibits state inspectors from investigating railroad accidents, even if the inspectors don't meet federal qualifications.

"They have to fulfill the laws of Michigan," he said. "Nothing ... precludes the state in any way from carrying out its own responsibilities."

Michigan law requires state officials to probe railroad accidents whenever "public interests require it."

One, William Milliken's office is trying to determine whether the state should investigate railroad accidents since "the law appears to require investigations," a spokesman said.

Milliken shifted the responsibility for regulating railroads from the Public Service Commission to the Department of Highways and Transportation last year. Since then the department has acquired six Michigan railroads to own, lease and operate.

Some officials have charged that the department faces a conflict of interest in both running and regulating railroads. State Rep. Jelt Sietsma, D-Wyoming, said he plans to introduce a bill that would put railroad functions under an independent state agency.

Nader Wants U.S. To Subpoena Auto Warranty Repair Records

DETROIT (AP) — The federal government should subpoena records of automakers showing which car defects cause the most warranty repairs, says consumer advocate Ralph Nader.

In a letter to Transportation Secretary Brock Adams, Nader said the information would help the government "spot defect trends, analyze the nature of the defect and order recalls where appropriate."

Nader included in the letter computer printouts and a memo he said were typical of warranty records kept by Ford Motor Co.

He said the data show that warranty repairs cost Ford nearly $67 million during the first 10 months of the 1977 model year. The most costly problem was in automatic transmission repairs.

A Ford spokesman declined comment until the automaker reviews the contents of Nader's letter, which reached Adams' office last week. A spokesman for Adams said DOT hasn't decided its response.

The documents contained such items as the top 20 defects for 1977 Ford passenger cars and the components with the greatest increases in warranty claims.

An official for the Nader-founded Center for Auto Safety said the Ford information came from "inside sources." He would not elaborate.

Center Director Clarence Ditlow said auto safety groups for years have urged the government to compile such information from auto companies but that the companies have always said it would be too costly to collect the data.

The Ford data shows that at least one automaker already has the material available and it would cost little to forward it to the government, Nader said.

Baby Is Born On Airliner

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — An Egyptian woman gave birth to a healthy seven-pound boy today while traveling on a Sabena Boeing 747 flight from New York to Brussels, the Belgian national airlines reported.

A gynecologist who happened to be aboard the plane delivered the baby with the aid of a stewardess and a steward. The infant, who was named Jimmy, was born about 74 miles south of Dublin, Ireland.

'Tis Season Of Mail Order Blitz

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

'Tis the season when holiday catalogues appear to tempt consumers with visions of mail order merchandise which add up to a multibillion dollar industry.

Although December is not the biggest month for the mail order business — January sales are actually the largest — it does bring an increased number of offerings in mailboxes and as supplements to Sunday newspapers.

Consumers planning to shop by mail should take precautions, however, to avoid disappointments. Mail order firms consistently rank high on complaint lists. The federal Office of Consumer Affairs says that 8.1 percent of all complaints received from February through December 1976 concerned mail orders. Only automobiles drew more complaints.

Federal Trade Commission regulations implemented last year impose strict standards for delivery and it pays to be aware of them.

Under the rules, a manufacturer who promises, in an ad or brochure, that your package will be "rushed to you in a week" — or two weeks or any given period — must ship it within that time.

If the seller does not promise delivery by a certain date, you have the right to have it shipped to you within 30 days after your order is received.

If the merchandise is not shipped — either by the date specified or within the 30-day limit — you have the right to cancel your order. The seller must notify you of the delay and provide a free means — a postage-paid card, for example — for you to reply.

You have two options in the case of such a delay. The first choice is to cancel the order and get your money back — in full. The seller must mail your refund to you within seven business days after you cancel. If you charged the purchase on a credit card, the seller has one billing cycle to adjust the account.

Your other choice is to accept the delay and agree to the new shipping date. If the delay is less than 30 days and you do not reply one way or the other, the seller has the right to assume you agree to the late shipment. If it is more than 30 days, you have to give your express consent to a delay. If you do not reply, the merchant must automatically cancel the order and refund your money.

The regulations do not apply to services like mail order photo finishing, to magazine subscriptions, to mail order seeds and plants or to COD orders. If you have a problem, you can write to Director, Bureau of Consumer Protection, M.O.P. Federal Trade Commission, Washington, D.C. 20580.

The Direct Mail Marketing Association, which represents 65 to 70 percent of the industry, also tries to handle consumer complaints. The association's address is: 6 E. 43rd St., New York, N.Y. 10017.

The association also offers a leaflet with guidelines for consumers on mail order shopping. It is available at no charge, but you must send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request.

A spokesman for the association said almost 75 million catalogues were sent out via third-class mail last year. Millions more were distributed as newspaper supplements or mailed at first-class rates.

Energy Hassle May Delay Action On Social Security Until 1978

By JIM LUTHER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional difficulty in approving a national energy program is threatening to delay final consideration of a Social Security bill until next year.

Such a delay could mean there will be no increases in Social Security taxes, beyond those already enacted, until 1979. That position is favored by the Senate, while the House prefers raising taxes further on middle- and upper-income workers starting Jan. 1.

President Carter and the Democratic leadership of Congress list energy as the top-priority for the remainder of the year, although they are urging final action on Social Security as well.

Action on both may not be possible because the Senate and House members most responsible for Social Security legislation are the same ones who are negotiating a compromise on the tax portions of the energy program. And it appears likely that energy will keep the lawmakers busy until close to Christmas.

After a week's recess, the energy negotiators were to return to work today, still facing the most crucial — and most controversial — energy issues.

Those issues are natural gas pricing and taxing of U.S.-produced crude oil. The latter would drive up the price of gasoline by about 7 cents a gallon.

Energy is not the only subject of controversy on Capitol Hill this week. Negotiators still are looking for a compromise on government-funded abortions that would allow final passage of a $80.2 billion money bill for the departments of Labor and Health, Education and Welfare.

A stopgap law that has continued funding for the departments while Congress debates abortion runs out Wednesday night.

The House will vote Tuesday on Carter's plan to reorganize such government education bureaus as the U.S. Information Agency. A final House vote is likely later this week on a bill prohibiting the sexual exploitation of children.

And both the House and Senate may take final action this week on a supplemental appropriation bill affecting the B-1 bomber and the dispute over the nuclear breeder reactor.

The measure supports Carter's position that three

Their Bulbs Still Free

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Detroit Edison Co. isn't giving out free light bulbs any longer, but utility customers in two other areas of Michigan can still get them. "In a community this size, I don't think anybody would want to be the guy who did away with free light bulbs," said a spokesman for the Lansing Board of Water and Light. In Wyandotte, downriver from Detroit, the Wyandotte Utility voiced the same sentiments.

Lansing and Wyandotte are the only other communities in Michigan with free-bulb programs. Edison decided to stop giving away free bulbs to customers in an out-of-court settlement of a lawsuit. The case was filed by a Detroit druggist, who called the free bulbs unfair competition for retailers. The Lansing utility gives out nearly 600,000 free bulbs a year to its 72,000 customers. Wyandotte hands out another 60,000 to its 12,000 customers. Edison, by contrast, was giving away up to 14 million bulbs annually.

URGENT COAL TALKS

no electricity.

He has access through the bus back door, behind which is a passageway sealed off from the outside by a corrugated metal door.

Two devices poke up through the earth above the bus — a chimney and a ventilator.

The result is a lodging that is warm, quiet and inexpensive. Not, however, recommended for those prone to claustrophobia.

"I know some people who would go completely berserk," said Martin. But the regimen seems to have worked for him.

He now weighs 235 pounds and is aiming to lose another 20 pounds, but the digging was not the only factor. His eating habits have also changed to vegetarianism, and heer no longer flows.

Martin's staples include fresh vegetables, fruit and bulgar wheat. He says he can get by on "a lot less than $100 a month."

He said he lives on about $125 a month from a $470 pension check. His wife, who does not live with him, gets the rest, he said.

Martin, whose home is on a 20-by-80-foot lot he bought from the Transportation Department, said his one concern is that bureaucrats may find a code that prohibits making a buried bus a home.

"But I don't really see why. I just parked my bus in a hole, that's all," he said.

Sadat Goes Ahead With Conference day, but other officials said it might be delayed a week beyond that.

Sadat made no reference to the PLO in his speech, but his foreign minister said an invitation would be sent to the organization as representatives of the Palestinian people.

Syria and the PLO rejected the invitation. The PLO threatened to execute any Arab from the occupied West Bank who attended.

Jordan and Lebanon were silent. But since Lebanon is occupied by Syrian troops, the Lebanese government was expected to follow Syria's lead.

White House press secretary Jody Powell said the U.S. government was still consulting with other parties to the Geneva conference before deciding whether to attend the meeting.

There was no comment from the Soviet government, but Syrian Foreign Minister Abdul Khallaf Khaddam was going to Moscow today to ask the Russians to reject Sadat's invitation.

Syria said Sadat's proposal was a ploy to justify Israeli visits to Cairo and a betrayal of the Arab world. Khaddam said Syria would attend the "republican summit" Libya and Algeria are holding in Tripoli Thursday "to create a strong anti-Sadat front."

Two other leftist Arab governments — Iraq and South Yemen — also are expected to attend.

Foreign Minister Moshe Dayan told reporters at the start of a four-day visit to West Germany that Israel is prepared to compromise with the Arabs to achieve peace as long as it can continue to defend itself.

"I do believe there is a compromise that is acceptable for all," Dayan said. "The way is to sit down together, to listen to the other party and to try to find a compromise. I think we can do that."

STEWART GRAND MARSHAL. HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actor James Stewart was grand marshal of the annual Santa Claus Lane Parade down Hollywood Boulevard which drew an estimated 300,000 viewers Sunday, officials said.

Alpena schools were closed. In northern Detroit suburbs, taxi companies refused calls Sunday night because of dangerous streets. Detroit officials said 49 trucks had strewn 2,000 tons of salt on city roads by early today.

Freezing drizzle was possible in some parts of the Lower Peninsula this morning, officials warned.

Strong westerly winds of up to 35 knots lowered water levels in the Detroit River and western Lake Erie by up to 2 1/2 feet and shipping was warned to check the Coast Guard for the most recent channel depths.

Renault's White Talks Dropped

CLEVELAND (AP) — Edward S. Reddig, the 73-year-old chairman of R.L. Consolidated Inc., of Canton, Ohio, says he's pleased that Renault has apparently lost interest in gaining control of White Motor Corp.

The French automaker said in a statement from its main office in Paris that discussions had been held concerning "common interest," but further discussions with White Motor would not be held.

Reddig, retired chairman of White Consolidated Industries, is making an effort to raise $100 million to buy control of White Motor so the company will remain in the Cleveland area.

Reddig says another foreign automaker, Daimler-Benz of West Germany, also is interested in the truck and tractor manufacturer.

Charles C. Kizer

Charles C. Kizer, 62, of 233 Hunter Drive, Fairplain, was found dead in his home Saturday at about 3:40 a.m. by his wife, Kathryn.

St. Joseph Township Patrolman Larry Eichleberger said the death was a suicide.

Dr. Paul Tam said he ruled death was caused by a single gunshot to the head that could have been self-inflicted. A .38-caliber pistol was found by Mr. Kizer's side, Eichleberger said, and a note was left.

Mr. Kizer retired from the Benton Harbor Sears, Roebuck and Co. store in 1975 because of illness. Dr. Tam said Mr. Kizer was apparently suffering from heart disease.

Mr. Kizer was born April 28, 1916, in Little Rock, Ark. He was a retired lieutenant of the Benton Harbor police auxiliary.

Surviving are his widow, the former Kathryn Thomas; a son, Richard, Oaklawn, Wis.; a daughter, Mrs. Donald (Margaret) Adams, St. Joseph; two brothers, Paul, Ann Arbor, Robert, St. Joseph; a sister, Mrs. Harvey (Marguerite) Coble, Stevensville.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Tuesday in Peace Temple United Methodist church. Burial will be in Crystal Springs Memorial Park. Friends may call at the Fairplain Chapel, Florin Funeral Home.

Mother And Son Killed In Niles Fire!

Frame House Is Gutted By Blaze

BY JOHN DYE

South Berrien Bureau

NILES — Fire raced through a two-story house here early Sunday morning, taking the lives of a young Niles mother and her son, and seriously injuring the woman's fiancé.

Another occupant of the house also was injured when he attempted to rescue the other three.

The woman's mother, who lived just across the street, looked on helplessly as flames destroyed the frame house at 523 Eagle St. which had been converted into two apartments.

Niles police identified the victims as Patricia Perkins, 21, and her two-year-old son, Charles, occupants of the apartment. Patricia's fiancé, Craig Cummings, 22, was listed in critical condition this morning at Pawating Hospital, Niles, suffering from smoke inhalation.

Police and the Niles telephone book both list Cummings' address as that of the Eagle Street house.

Cummings was rescued from the smoke-filled, burning first-floor apartment by firemen. The bodies of the child and his mother were removed moments later.

Firemen said two policemen gave the boy mouth-to-mouth resuscitation without success while taking him to the hospital.

Also injured in the blaze was building owner Franklin Virgil, 51, who lived in the upstairs apartment and who tried to rescue the three before firemen arrived. He received a cut hand in breaking a window in one attempt, but did not require hospitalization.

Virgil, according to police, tried to reach the three first by using the front door and then through a window. Police said Virgil told them he was driven back by a wall of flames when he opened the door. Dense smoke stopped him at the bedroom window.

According to police, Virgil said he went to the apartment after spotting smoke coming through a heat register in his apartment. He said he sent his son, Dean, 16, to call in the alarm at the same time.

Firemen got the call about 12:30 a.m.

The son called from the home of Mrs. Perkins' mother, Mrs. Margaret Adkins, who lives across the street and who watched as firemen battled the blaze.

Cause of the fire remains under investigation, according to Marion Fuller, Niles fire chief. Fuller said Sgt. Larry Squires, a state police detective from the fire marshal's office at Paw Paw, inspected the scene Sunday, but no cause for the fire has been determined.

Mrs. Adkins told this newspaper, her daughter and grandson, and Cummings called her at 10:30 p.m. after returning to the apartment.

Fuller said firemen found Cummings first in the kitchen of the apartment, near a back door. The woman and her son were found near each other on the floor of a dining room where the child slept.

Police said both victims were pronounced dead on arrival at Pawating, and had suffered burns and smoke inhalation.

Mrs. Adkins said her daughter was divorced and planned to marry Cummings in the near future. Her ex-husband, Sgt. Richard Perkins, stationed with the U.S. Army at Fort Campbell, Ky., was reported enroute to Niles Sunday afternoon.

Capt. Steven Waldron, of the Niles fire department, said flames were shooting from the front floor of the downstairs apartment and through a picture window when firemen arrived. He said it took firemen over two hours to bring the fire under control and that they left the scene about 6 a.m. Sunday.

Fire Kills 3 Children In Newport

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Fire killed three young children trapped in an upstairs bedroom of their Newport, Mich., home Saturday.

Firemen said the parents of the three dead children told them they purchased a smoke alarm, but had not yet installed it in their home five miles north of Monroe.

Monroe County deputies said the victims were Jennifer Lynn Kreitsch, 8; Michael Charles Kreitsch, 7; and Jillian Kreitsch, 5. The children's parents were visiting friends in Monroe when the fire began, probably near the fireplace, authorities said.

A fourth child, 13-year-old Ricky, and his cousin were asleep downstairs when the blaze broke out about 2:40 a.m.

Ricky told investigators that he woke up when he could not breathe because of the smoke. He and his cousin tried to get upstairs but were driven back by flames, he said, and there was no response when they called to the youngsters.

The two babysitters said they then fled the house, with Ricky running to his grandparents home two doors away, where firemen were called.

A similar tragedy was averted Saturday when Detroit firemen entered a flaming home and rescued 11-month-old James Henry and Fred Jenner, 3. The infant was plucked from his crib and the Jenner child was found wandering in an adjoining bedroom.

The children, initially listed in critical condition, were improving by early today.

Trio Face Assault Charges

EDWARDSBURG — Three Elkhart, Ind., people were arrested and booked at the Cass County Jail on several charges after an Edwardsburg family reported they were threatened with a meat cleaver, Cass County Sheriff's deputies said.

Arrested after the 5:30 a.m. incident Sunday were Roger Welch, 28, Sherman Vance, 41, and Charlotte Anderson, 32.

Deputies said Welch was booked on charges of carrying a concealed weapon, felonious assault, driving under the influence of intoxicants and resisting arrest. The other two were booked on charges of carrying a concealed weapon and conspiracy to commit felonious assault, deputies said.

Deputies said they were called to the Deborah Hicks residence, Linden Mobile Home Park, with a report that Mrs. Hicks, her husband and a friend had been threatened.

Police said the assailants were gone when they arrived, but officers said they concealed themselves and made the arrests about 6:45 a.m. when three people came near the Hicks' mobile home.

Deputies said a meat cleaver and an axe handle were seized

Ex-Judge Hadsell Dies In Niles At 82

NILES — Former Berrien County Circuit Court Judge Philip A. Hadsell Sr. died Friday evening at Pawating Hospital in Niles after a brief illness.

He was 82.

Judge Hadsell retired as circuit court judge in January 1967, after nearly 12 years on the bench.

Since his retirement, he had served as a private legal consultant, mostly for the Niles law firm with which his son is associated.

A current circuit court judge, Chester Byrns of St. Joseph, this morning described Judge Hadsell as a kindly man who loved brevity, made no pretenses and didn't compromise the truth.

"He (Judge Hadsell) had the ability to see an issue, and apply common sense and the law. He was a great jurist and served the county and the state very well," said Judge Byrns.

Judge Hadsell, in January 1967, as one of his last official acts, gave Judge Byrns the oath of office as circuit court judge. Often referring to himself as an "old Cass County farm boy," Judge Hadsell was born Sept. 17, 1895, on his father's farm nine miles east of Niles on M-60 in Cass County.

He was educated in Cressopolis schools, served in the Army in World War I, after interrupting his education at the University of Michigan, and graduated from university's Law School in 1919.

Judge Hadsell served on the Niles School Board from 1927 to 1940, the last five of those years as the board's president.

He lived at 730 Colony Court, Niles.

His first wife, Thelma Nauman, died in 1966. He married Irene French in March 1967.

Besides his widow, survivors include his son Philip A. Jr., a Niles attorney; a daughter, Mrs. Ralph (Margaret) Ruffner, Edwardsville, Ill.; and six grandchildren.

Memorial services will be Tuesday at 11 a.m. at Trinity Episcopal Church, Niles, where he was a member. Burial will be in Silverbrook Cemetery. There will be no visitation at Halbritter Funeral Home, Niles. Memorials may be made to Niles Community Library.

Hunter Mistakes Brother For Deer

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

A 31-year-old Grand Rapids man died of blood loss and shock after he was shot in the leg by his brother, who mistook him for a deer, according to Mason County deputies.

The victim, James Peterson, died Sunday in a Lathrop hospital following the accident Saturday. He was the 23rd person to die while hunting since the 6-day firearms deer season opened Nov. 15.

Nine of those victims died of gunshot wounds, according to state police, and the rest after suffering apparent heart attacks.

Peterson's brother, Dean, 27, told deputies the hunting party had been stalking a deer when he fired at what he thought was the animal. Dean Peterson said he ran to check the animal and instead found he had hit his brother.

Peterson suffered a single gunshot wound in the leg, deputies said, but it took his companions nearly two hours to get him out of the woods to help. He died a few hours later at a hospital, authorities said.

Deputies were investigating, and declined to say whether charges would be filed.

Allegan Man Dies After Party

ALLEGAN — Allegan County Sheriff's officers are investigating the death of Kirk J. Grauman, 21, Allegan, who was found dead at his home Sunday morning after a Saturday night party.

Sheriff's officers said an autopsy was scheduled for today for Grauman's home Saturday night. Detectives said partygoers reported that Grauman passed out and was placed on a bed. Later when they tried to wake him and couldn't, an ambulance was called, detectives said. He was pronounced dead at the scene about 9 a.m. Sunday, detectives reported.

The autopsy was to be conducted at the Chappell Funeral Home, Allegan.

Detectives said Grauman was not the person to be

Wreckers To Lead Funeral Procession

Some 35 wrecker trucks will offer a message to motorists as they lead a funeral procession Tuesday for Karl C. Schlipp, an Eau Claire wrecker operator who died in a traffic accident Friday while attempting to assist a motorist stuck in the snow.

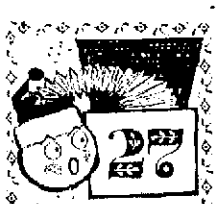

Donald Schlipp, who worked with his father at Schlipp's Five Corners Garage, 7170 Pipestone Road, Eau Claire, said wrecker drivers from throughout the county volunteered to lead the procession.

He said the wreckers will lead the procession in an attempt "to get across the idea to motorists to obey the warning lights on wreckers." The younger Schlipp emphasized that motorists should stop when they see the flashing lights on a wrecker and proceed around it at a slow speed after checking to see that the road is clear.

Karl Schlipp, 65, was killed in Soda Township when he was struck by a car as he tried to assist a motorist stuck in the snow. The accident occurred about 1:57 p.m. on Pipestone near Left Road. Berrien Sheriff's deputies said Schlipp was standing at the rear of his wrecker when an oncoming car hit an auto stuck in the snow, and then struck the wrecker and Schlipp.

The funeral procession will go from the United Church of Christ in Eau Claire to Shanghai Cemetery on Park Road in Pipestone township following 2 p.m. funeral services at the church.

Lewandowski Quits In Niles

By JOHN DYE

South Berrien Bureau

NILES — Michael Lewandowski, a suspended Niles patrolman who was indicted last year by a Berrien County Citizens Grand Jury, has resigned from the police department here.

In a letter to the city's Board of Public Safety and Police Chief Raymond Rudman, Lewandowski, 34, announced his resignation and leveled several blasts at the board and the grand jury.

Earlier this month, a Berrien Circuit Court trial for Lewandowski on two counts of perjury before the grand jury ended in a mistrial. The county prosecutor's office has indicated it will try him on the same two charges early next year.

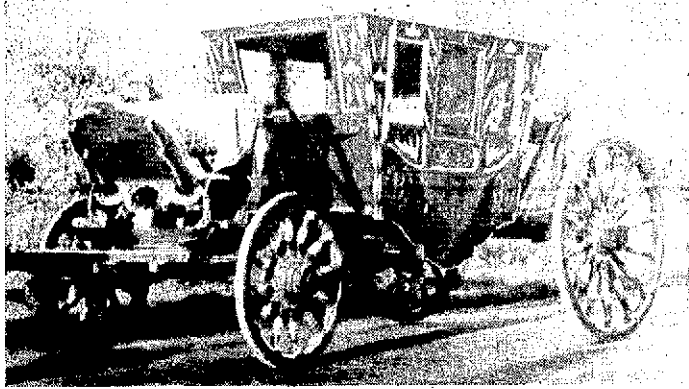

In the letter, Lewandowski said he was resigning to draw from his pension fund in order to help pay off "staggering financial setbacks," due in part to attorney fees. Lewandowski wrote to Rudman and the board that he felt he was unjustly suspended after his indictment "before a trial by jury." A 9½-year veteran of the department, his resignation was effective last Friday.

In his letter, he said he felt he could no longer serve the city and "I would assume that a normal employer... would at least stand behind their employees."

As to the grand jury procedure, Lewandowski said he was indicted "by 17 people uninformed of the laws of the State of Michigan, and legal rights granted to every person of the United States."

Before his trial on the two perjury counts began, another perjury charge was dropped. Another charge stemming from the indictment, larceny in a building, resulted in a directed verdict of acquittal in Berrien Circuit Court last March.

Carter Prepares Energy Pitch

By RICHARD E. MEYER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter is putting together a year-end pitch to Congress to salvage as much of his energy program as possible. Aides say the president has set aside time for meetings with senators and congressmen as they return from Thanksgiving vacation in an effort to persuade them to approve the kind of energy program he wants.

Meanwhile, Carter planned to meet today with Army Secretary Clifford Alexander and representatives of the Army Corps of Engineers to determine what can be done to improve dam inspections.

After a privately owned dam collapsed in Georgia earlier this month, killing 39 persons, Carter said he would step up federal inspection of non-federal dams.

The president also is meeting this week with Joseph A. Califano, secretary of health, education and welfare, and James McIntyre, acting director of the Office of Management and Budget, to talk about reorganizing HEW's education effort.

Carter promised during the presidential campaign to create a separate Department of Education.

But Claudia Townsend, an associate White House press secretary, said there was "lots of room" in the president's schedule to arrange meetings with members of Congress trying to resolve House and Senate differences over energy legislation.

"It's not such a crowded schedule that he couldn't get these things in," Ms. Townsend said.

House and Senate conference committees are negotiating tax and price portions of the energy program. And it appears likely that energy will keep the lawmakers busy until close to Christmas.

The most controversial issues they face are the pricing of natural gas and a tax on U.S.-produced crude oil, which would drive up the price of gasoline by about 7 cents a gallon.

Carter wants the conferees to retain a House-passed ceiling on natural gas prices as well as the crude oil tax, approved by the House as an incentive to conserve.

The Senate has rejected the crude oil tax and voted to lift controls on natural gas prices after two years.

During the president's Thanksgiving holiday at Camp David, his vacation White House in the Catoctin Mountains of western Maryland, his press secretary, Jody Powell, renewed Carter's threat to veto energy legislation that is not tough enough.

"Anyone who believes the president will sign a bad bill is seriously mistaken," Powell said. "No bill may be better than a bad bill."

He said Carter still intends to leave after Christmas on a foreign trip and will look for signs this week that Congress will complete an acceptable energy program by then.

Social Aid Chief Under Fire

HAMTRAMCK, Mich. (AP) — A social worker was hired as the $13,000-a-year director of two social services programs while under indictment on forgery charges in California, officials said.

Charles Keefe, 35, has since resigned effective Dec. 1. His boss says that if Keefe hadn't resigned, he would have been fired.

Keefe ran senior citizen and teen-ager centers in Hamtramck for Peoples Community Services, a Detroit-based social services agency supported with $180,000 in United Fund money.

Keefe was hired in August 1976, six months after he was charged with forging letters from Henry Ford II. White House officials and others in an effort to win leniency for his indicted brother in a Santa Barbara, Calif., land fraud case, authorities said.

California has been trying to extradite Keefe ever since. The extradition case is now before the Michigan Supreme Court, where Keefe is appealing adverse lower-court rulings.

SEARCH IS ON IN KALKASKA Teen Hunter Is Missing

KALKASKA, Mich. (AP) — A search was to resume at daybreak for a missing 16-year-old Warren deer hunter who apparently got lost on the trail of his first buck.

An air and ground search by more than 100 people Sunday failed to turn up a clue of the high school sophomore, who was last seen Friday.

Authorities said wind, snow and cold temperatures were hampering the search for Larry Wyckoff, who became separated from his hunting companions in a heavily wooded area of Kalkaska County's Garfield Township.

A deputy said today the temperatures had dipped to zero each night since Wyckoff disappeared, and the forest was covered with "at least a foot of snow."

Deputies said the searchers Sunday found a depression in the snow that could have been made by the missing youth. Teams of volunteers combed the area and found a Thermos, but authorities later determined Wyckoff did not have one when he disappeared.

The youth was reported wearing jeans, a jacket, boots, a cap and one glove. He also had three bullets and a compass, but no matches, his companions told police.

Alan Hart, Kalkaska County sheriff, said the search area covered about nine square miles. Two helicopters assisted the mission but reported problems because of the thick forest. The search today was to be by foot only.

"You won't find much rougher country," said Charles Stuck, 71, who has been hunting the area for 40 years. "We're helped lost hunters out of there many times."

Officials said this was the first time Wyckoff had gone hunting without his parents. He apparently wounded a deer, going off after it through a swamp.

His friends got tired of the chase and returned to their camper parked near Sharon, about 15 miles south of Kalkaska. Wyckoff did not return, his friends said.

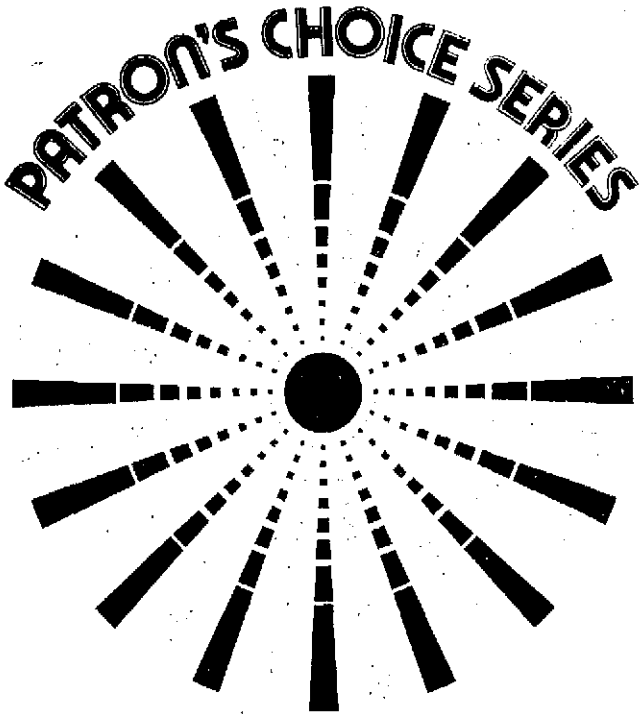

"Larry was after a buck," said his mother as searchers combed the woods for her son Sunday. "He was determined to get one."

Travel Agents Upset

DETROIT (AP) — Many Michigan travel agents are upset about proposed legislation to regulate them at the state level and impose a code of responsibility on them. Travel industry spokesmen said the only sensible form of regulation would be at the federal level since their business, by its nature, crosses state and national boundaries. State Rep. Casmer Ogonowski, D-Detroit, has introduced a bill calling for state registration of travel agents. "We're not saying regulation is a bad thing," said Arthur Schiff, an officer with American Society of Travel Agents. "But frankly, we are working with Mr. Ogonowski to find a way to convince him that the state need not move forward in this field, that it is not useful." Ogonowski said the measure, now before his House Tourist Industry Relations Committee, would upgrade the industry and help protect consumers.

Glass Blowing 'Ultra-Exciting'

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — "When I started it was pretty klunky stuff," Gary Curtis says of his class at Ohio University in the art of blowing glass.

That was 18 months ago. The 22-year-old senior sculpture major has moved up a notch from learning how to properly snare blobs of molten glass on the end of a blowpipe.

"The creative possibilities with something that is both solid and liquid at different times is quite unbelievable," he said. "That is where the art comes in. The extremely long time it takes to gain control of the glass is the craft."

GARY CURTIS
Using Blow Pipe

The Cleveland native is now working in functional art glass—jars, goblets, dishes. He is aiming for a master of fine arts degree with glass art as perhaps one area of concentration.

"If you become really good it takes 10 years of constant work," he said. "You can blow a good bubble earlier but you're not able to get fancy."

"Glass is a hard thing to manipulate."

Curtis said he may some day teach fine art but does not see himself as a professional glass blower.

"I may sell some work but I think I would use it mainly as a hobby," he said. "I don't see feeding myself with glass art ... I don't think I'm good enough."

"But glass as art is ultra-exciting. It's pretty much a lost art. There is only a few hundred people still doing it around the country."

Most glass art, he said, is now done at universities.

"They pay a lot of the bills; they have the furnaces. The amount of glass needed for this is expensive," he said. "We have to melt the glass at 2,200 degrees, they work it at about 1,800 degrees, then reheat it as you work it."

"Sometimes we have to heat the glass for 24-36 hours to cook all the air bubbles out of it."

Curtis considers southern Ohio and West Virginia as ideal for glass work because of the type of soda ash, sand- and limestone-glass ingredients available.

"This is about the best region for glass production. The area is well known because of the raw materials," he said.

Escapee's Trial To Start

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP) — A prison escapee accused of kidnapping an Upper Peninsula woman for eight days last summer is slated to go on trial Tuesday in federal court at Grand Rapids. Federal officials said they expect the trial of Douglas Henry, 23, of Lansing, to last about one week. He is charged with kidnapping Evelyn Van Tassel, 38, from her cabin near Marquette on Aug. 25. Mrs. Van Tassel was rescued unharmed Sept. 1 when police and the FBI captured Henry at Des Moines, Iowa. Authorities said Henry escaped from a prison camp near Marquette, where he was serving two burglary sentences, two days before Mrs. Van Tassel was kidnapped. He also faces a federal auto theft charge.

Lily Tomlin Remembers Former Teacher In Song

DETROIT (AP) — Lily Tomlin remembers her second-grade teacher so well she wrote a song about her. When they told the teacher about it, she thought the schools were getting sued and couldn't remember Miss Tomlin at first.

The song, "Tell Miss Sweeney Goodbye," recalls Miss Tomlin's fantasies about her teacher of 33 years ago, Margaret Ann Sweeney, "who looked like a movie star — Loretta Young."

In the song, the singer correctly guesses the name Margaret Ann corresponds to the initials M.A. on the teacher's monogrammed sweaters. Told she guessed correctly, the singer grows to imagine herself the teacher's pet, but is rebuffed for whimsical ridicule and, crushed, throws herself under a bus and utters her dying words to a safety patrol boy, "Tell Miss Sweeney Goodbye."

Miss Tomlin plugged her song, taken from a skit in her Broadway show, in an appearance on Johnny Carson's "Tonight" show last Monday night.

The Board of Education was deluged with calls from viewers. The Board called Miss Sweeney, now Mrs. Howard

Snyder and still a teacher. She said she thought at first, "On my, there's going to be a suit. Every day, we hear threats of suits from the parents of children who can't read or write."

That straightened out, Mrs. Snyder said she could not recall Miss Tomlin completely and asked, "Is that the person in entertainment?" Recalling her student, she said, "I must have made more of an impression than I realized."

After hearing the record, the teacher said, "It was very funny. It was correct in many respects, especially the part that I wore cashmere sweaters."

Lawmakers Hit FAA Waste

WASHINGTON (AP) — A California congressman charged today that the Federal Aviation Administration has wasted up to $30 million in recent years on programs that failed, equipment never delivered and contract irregularities. Rep. John L. Burton, D-Calif., also complained that the FAA is clinging to a "see-and-avoid" concept for averting mid-air collisions, relying on pilots' eyesight instead of modern electronic gear. Burton, who is planning two days of House hearings this week into FAA policies, accused the agency of "slipshod and highly questionable" practices. A spokesman for the FAA said the agency would respond to the charges at the hearings, which open Tuesday.

The Pain Of Migraine Is Very, Very Real

"Quite frankly, we Doctors often make the mistake of using names or labels of serious conditions without fully explaining them," says Dr. Ackerman, D.C., of Ackerman Chiropractic Center.

"For instance, migraine, by any name, is the most cruel type of headache."

Dr. Ackerman went on to describe a typical migraine attack. It can start with a heavy feeling over the eyes.

The victim generally becomes depressed with the thought of going through another bout with migraine.

"The pain begins at the base of the skull and radiates, or throbs, to one or both sides of the head," the good Doctor continued. Some senses, such as hearing, become extra acute. A dripping faucet will sound like a cannon exploding. The least jarring or stooping aggravates the pain.

What causes a migraine? According to Dr. Ackerman, a nerve pressure at the base of the skull is the culprit. This nerve pressure impairs the tone of the pyloric valve, diminishing the efficiency of digestion. Bile entering the stomach becomes difficult to digest. The lower pelvic organs may produce low-back nerve pressures.

"Pain pills and headache remedies offer only temporary relief at best, while doing nothing to relieve the cause of the problem," cautions Dr. Ackerman. "All the definitions and technical language in the world mean little to the person suffering a migraine headache. 'Relief' becomes the most precious word in the English language."

In closing, Dr. Ackerman reminds us that since 1895, Chiropractic has been used effectively to relieve nerve pressure in all parts of the body, nerve pressure that can cause a migraine headache. Like all forms of illness, migraine is a sign that something is wrong in the body. And until the cause of the trouble is eliminated, the body cannot enjoy the healthy state nature intended.

Note: Dr. Ackerman maintains Chiropractic offices at 2018 Red Arrow Hwy. St. Joseph (Telephone 429-1700).

Equality Rules Don't Count In Actuarial Tables

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — In the name of equality, should individual male and female employees contribute equal amounts of money to the company's pension plan? Or is to do so in itself a form of discrimination? What makes this issue as knotty as any personnel problem today is the almost irrefutable contention that men and women are not equal in the actuarial tables. Women live longer than men. It's a statistical fact.

This being so, men aren't likely to collect as much money out of the pension fund, while often they pay into the fund an amount equal to their female counterparts.

Now that's discrimination, say insurers and others engaged in working out equitable pension benefits. To which women rightists sometimes reply: Nonsense, women and men are equal in the eyes of God and the law.

No matter, is the next response from actuaries; they are not equal in the tables. Sex and the single benefit table is an injustice, it is argued.

"Like most good things, anti-discrimination rules can be carried to extremes," says William M. Mercer, Inc., an international employee benefit consulting firm. "Mortality differences between the sexes are a biological fact."

But Mercer and other consultants aren't the ones to make the final decision. The courts are. The Supreme Court already has agreed to consider one such case, against the Los Angeles Department of Water and Power.

In that case the lower courts ruled it was unfair to require a female to contribute more than a male in order to receive the same monthly benefit. In effect, they said, a unisex benefit table should be used.

That finding probably settles little for long, and may even challenge the terms laid down by the U.S. Supreme Court in earlier action.

The court has stated that you can just as easily create inequality by requiring identical benefits be provided to persons unequally situated as by requiring different benefits to be provided to persons equally situated.

That would seem to provide support for insurers and consultants such as Mercer.

An essential premise of insurance, it says, is that "all persons in the same class of risk get the same benefits for the same price so that no one class subsidizes another."

Men and women aren't in the same class of risks, it adds. They are biologically and maybe genetically different. "The differences in male-female mortality has actually been widening while their lifestyles have become more similar."

Opponents of this reasoning say we didn't until recently separate smokers and non-smokers. But Mercer replies that smoking is a voluntary action. "One subject to change and most difficult to monitor."

The difference between men and women isn't voluntary, nor is it difficult to monitor. We know they are different, says Mercer, and we know that neither men nor women can do much about it no matter how they change lifestyles.

If we refuse to recognize the differences between men and women in the actuarial table then perhaps health and age also should be barred as classifications. That, says Mercer, points up the untenable nature of the unisex argument.

Moreover, it adds a legal consideration: If men, for example, are forced to subsidize the benefits of female employees and retirees, then the unisex table actually could be in violation of the U.S. Equal Pay Act.

The philosophical thrust of that act is that individuals must be considered on the basis of individual capacities and not on the basis of any characteristics generally attributed to the group.

But no insurance company or consultant is likely to push that argument very far because of a peculiar problem: The same reasoning, if applied to insurance in general, would wipe out insurance, which is based on grouping and averaging and classifying. No more Prudential, no more Metropolitan. All these problems because men and women are different. And because sometimes they like to emphasize those differences and at other times to claim they don't exist.

Ask Your Dentist

ALFRED E. SEYLER, D.D.S.

Q: My 17-year-old son has very bad breath. He doesn't seem to notice it, but our family does. We've had him checked over by our family physician, who tells us he is in good health and that we must see our dentist. The only dentist within 50 miles from our home is very busy and quite old and I wonder just how interested he will be in our problem. We have a dental appointment in six weeks, but in the meantime we'd like to have your opinion, F.F.

A: I receive many letters quite similar to yours, and I have answered several in the past year or two by suggesting visits to physicians who specialize in nose and throat problems, provided that the possible dental causes have been ruled out. Tonsils, adenoids and sinus infections can be a source of bad breath. Some diseases, such as diabetes, produce a definite odor of the breath. Stomach ulcers and certain infections of the lungs may influence bad odors. All of these factors, along with oral cleanliness and health must be considered.

Of course, most people think about teeth and gums, and tooth brushing habits, when they talk about bad breath. The gums and teeth must be kept clean by proper brushing, flossing and mouth rinsing. The gums around the teeth and the spaces between the teeth must be kept clean and the tongue must be well brushed. It is more important to brush one's teeth after breakfast than before breakfast to eliminate food particles and the plaque (or film) that collects on the teeth. And make it a point to eat some breakfast, preferably something that will require some chewing and provide some roughness to stimulate the gums, the tongue and the cheeks.

Q: What about that saying that "apples are nature's toothbrush"? Any truth to it? D.S.

A: For many years people have been told that story — and since most people like to eat apples we've been glad to believe it. However, even though apples may have some cleaning effect, they do not remove the plaque between the teeth or at the gum line.

Apples have been promoted as a less damaging snack between meals than sugary things or those that tend to stick to the teeth. However, apples do contain sugar too, and besides, they are on "the acid side," which means that the bacteria which produces cavities will thrive for half an hour or so after the apple is chewed.

I don't suppose my comments will set very well with the folks who grow apples, but I assure you they are based upon published facts of investigation. An article in the British Medical Journal a few months ago recommends that if one has to have a snack to finish off a meal, or to eat between meals, he should eat cheese and salted peanuts. Those two things are not strongly acid and in addition they increase the flow of saliva. I don't know how popular such a suggestion will be — but there it is!

Seattle Mayor Says He's Had Enough Politics

By LEE MITCHELL
AP Urban Affairs Writer

He is young, well-liked, a rising star in the Democratic Party's galaxy.

But Mayor Wes Uhlman of Seattle says he's had it with

MAYOR WES UHLMAN
"A Little Weary"

politics — for the moment at least — after eight years of personal ups and downs as chief executive of a city with ups and downs of its own.

"I'm going on sabbatical. I feel a lot like the point man on an infantry platoon. You're drawing all the fire and you get a little weary," Uhlman said in a telephone interview.

He made the decision not to run for a third term last March "despite a great deal of pressure to run again," he says. But others inside and outside Seattle government feel he might well have just a re-election bid, thereby doing irreparable harm to any hopes he harbors for future state, or even national, office.

However, despite his avowed weariness with political life, few around him seriously believe Uhlman has given up hopes of being governor or senator of Washington, or else receiving some attractive Washington job offer from the Carter administration.

At any rate, his mayoralty ends in January and a local television commentator with no political experience, Charles Royer, takes over the office. Uhlman will become a partner in the Seattle law firm of Inslee, Best and Chapin.

Uhlman said he had turned down two Carter job offers — a post in the Department of Housing and Urban Development, and the U.S. Commission on Aging — but he didn't foreclose future Washington offers.

"If I was going to do anything out of the Seattle area, it would have to be very attractive," he said.

Uhlman said there was no single event that made him decide against a third term, but others like City Council member Phyllis Lamphere, a loser in the mayoral race this year, think Uhlman's disastrous defeat in a 1976 try for the governorship might have influenced him.

What might have swayed him, she says, is that in the gubernatorial primary Uhlman failed even to carry the city.

Perhaps Uhlman's biggest problem were growing suspicions he was forming a city patronage machine, especially irksome in an election year when incumbency was almost a disadvantage.

"We had the beginnings of a machine going. Nothing you could put your finger on, but it would have come out if he had run again," says Ann Ormsby, former chairman of the Seattle Board of Freeholders.

"I'm sure he would have been labeled as one who'd made opportunities for his near-and-dear," says Ms. Lamphere. "But those of us in the council who ran for mayor this year were branded by the same brush. It is the era of the outsider in Seattle."

Nonetheless, says Ms. Ormsby, he is still seen as generally popular and courageous. "He left office a popular man. But that popularity would have been tested in a campaign."

Eaton Farmers Win First Battle Against State's Concrete Invasion

By LARRY McDERMOTT
Associated Press Writer
LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Although more accustomed to fighting insects and crop diseases, farmers in Eaton County can wear a feather in their caps for winning round No. 1 in a fight over crops versus concrete.

Any suggestion that prime farmland be turned into a highway right-of-way, but in central Michigan they had no idea it would be such a tough battle.

After hearing arguments for more than a year, the state is backing off on plans to complete a segment of Interstate 69 between Lansing and Charlotte.

After hearing from six members of the "Citizens Concerned About I-69" earlier this month, the Michigan Highway Commission ordered the Highway Department to stop buying rights-of-way. The rural group already had put pressure on Gov. William Milliken, who urged the commission to scrap the plan.

However, the commission will take up the matter again when it meets next month.

The group complained that the state would gobble up directly or indirectly about 10,000 acres of some of the best farmland in central Michigan.

An alternate route for I-69 was suggested by the farmers. Milliken said the state plan should be modified to reduce the impact on farmland, but he did

Duck Habitat Threatened

By WILLIAM PRATER
Associated Press Writer
HAMILTON, Ill. (AP) — An unidentified pollutant in the Mississippi River is killing off the fingerling clam in the Keokuk Pool, described by biologists as the single most important diving duck habitat in North America.

Researchers at the Illinois Natural History Survey fear the same thing may be happening in the Keokuk Pool that ruined the Illinois River as diving duck refuge in a mysterious dieoff in 1964.

The tiny clams, which grow in huge underwater beds, are 90 per cent of the diet of such diving ducks as the canvasback and lesser scaup, said biologist Richard E. Sparks. The present fingerling clam population in the 20-mile pool between Fort Madison and Keokuk, Iowa, "is about 10 per cent of what it was two years ago," Sparks said. "That's not enough for the ducks to eat."

The tiny clams are also the principal food of channel catfish and buffalo, which make the Keokuk Pool a highly productive commercial fishery.

Fingerling clams usually thrive in a polluted environment, which make the Illinois and Mississippi dieoffs all the more puzzling, Sparks said. "Very little is known about their water quality requirements."

The survey is studying several pollutants found in much higher concentrations in the Illinois than the Mississippi. The most suspect is ammonia, found in heavy doses in the Illinois due to discharge from the Metropolitan Sanitary District of Greater Chicago, Sparks said. It also comes from fertilizer runoff and waste water from fertilizer plants, he said.

Ammonia will kill fingerling clams at concentrations of more than .5 parts per million, biologist Carl Thompson said.

The clams' growth rate is affected at 2 ppm.

"It's above that now in Pool 19 (Keokuk)," he said.

The dieoff was first reported during a time of low water levels in mid-1976, Thompson said. The ammonia levels appear to be increasing because of industrialization of the Fort Madison area, he said.

Clams remaining in the pool are stunted, Thompson said.

Waterfowl authority Frank C. Belrose said the disappearance of the fingerling clam would almost certainly drive diving ducks out of the Keokuk Pool and they have an suitable migration rest areas along the Mississippi Flyway.

Pool 19 is the main gathering point for diving ducks from all over the Mississippi Flyway, Belrose said. From Canada, the Dakotas and Minnesota they stop to feed in Pools 5 and 6 of the Mississippi in northern Wisconsin, then fly to Pool 19.

There they drift over the clam beds for several weeks in noisy rafts of 10,000 birds or more, gorging themselves before the long nonstop flight to wintering grounds in Florida, Mexico and backwaters along the Gulf of Mexico, Belrose said.

Use This Method To Stop Hair Loss, Grow More Hair

HOUSTON, TEXAS — If you don't suffer from male pattern baldness, you can now stop your hair loss and grow more hair.

Have you faced the fact that you have a hair loss problem?

Hair loss occurs so gradually that men and women often ignore it. Until it's too late. Even though you see yourself in a mirror every day, many of you won't admit to abnormal hair fall.

If you think, honestly, that you might be in this category, look at a picture taken a year ago — three years ago. Notice a difference? If so, now's the time to stop your hair loss. You could be going bald.

If it appears that you are already losing hair, whatever your daily hair routine is, if you continue to follow it, your hair will probably gradually thin away to nothing.

But it doesn't have to happen. Often hair fall is NOT normal.

Now a firm of laboratory consultants has developed a treatment that not only stops hair loss, but actually grows hair! And you don't even have to take their word for it. You can try their treatment for 32 days, at their risk, and see for yourself. Naturally they wouldn't offer this opportunity unless it worked. But it's impossible to help everyone.

The great majority of cases of excessive hair fall and baldness are the beginning and more fully developed stages of male pattern baldness and cannot be helped.

But if you are not already sick bald, how can you be sure what is actually causing your hair loss? Even if baldness seems to "run in the family," it is certainly not proof of the cause of YOUR hair loss.

If you have thinning hair, the Loesch treatment may be the answer for you. If you still have any hair on top of your head, and would like to stop hair loss and grow more hair, do something about it before it's too late.

Loesch Laboratory Consultants, Inc. will supply you with treatment for 32 days — at their risk — if they believe the treatment will help you. Just send them the information listed below. All inquiries are answered confidentially by mail. Adv.

Magazine Devoted To Human Nature

By TOM JORY
Associated Press Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — "We're still Stone Age people, and there's a mismatch of what we're designed to do and what we must do to live in this changing environment, our ability to adapt."

That's the observation of Dr. Robert Ornstein, and in a sense it's the premise on which he's based Human Nature, a new science-oriented magazine edited for the general reader. The first monthly issue is scheduled for distribution Dec. 11.

"There are a lot of aspects of this culture that are confused and chaotic," said Ornstein, a psychologist, "and it seems to me the information is there that can help alleviate a lot of these problems — and some of it is very interesting."

Ornstein, in his mid-30s, is an associate professor of medical psychology at the University of California's Langley-Porter Institute. He's well known for his research into hemispheric specialization of the brain — or which side of the brain governs which function?

He's president of the Institute for the Study of Human Knowledge and the author of several books, including "The Psychology of Consciousness," which was written as a textbook but consumed by a huge audience outside the classroom.

Human Nature, said Ornstein, grew from the lack of an accessible, readable vehicle for "articles about all the aspects of humanity — cellular to global, birth to death."

NEVER ARGUE WITH SUCCESS

There is a sound philosophy based on the premise: "Never argue with success." If you have the urge to invest in real estate, listen to what some of the most successful investors have to say about it.

Andrew Carnegie: "Ninety percent of all millionaires became so through owning real estate. More money has been made in real estate than in all industrial investments combined. The wise young man or wage-earner invests his money in real estate."

Marshall Field: "Buying real estate is not only the best way, the quickest way, and the safest way, but the only way to become wealthy."

John D. Rockefeller: "The big fortunes in the future will be made in real estate."

John Jacob Astor: (He's a little more specific.) "Buy on the fringe and wait. Buy land near a growing city! Buy real estate when other people want to sell. Hold what you buy."

If there is anything we can do to help you in the field of Real Estate, please phone or drop in at BERRIEN REAL ESTATE SERVICE, 1014 Main St., St. Joseph, Mo. 64504. We're here to help.

Conventional 100's Give Way To Merit Taste Science.

'Enriched Flavor'™ technology achieves taste level of higher tar 100mm cigarettes.

For years, smokers of longer length cigarettes were limited to brands that needed high tar to deliver full flavor.

But no longer.

The MERIT taste science that brought full flavor to low tar smoking has now been applied to a longer length cigarette. The result: a 100mm cigarette that delivers taste way out of proportion to tar.

Low tar MERIT 100's. Only 12 mg tar. Yet packed with 'Enriched Flavor' tobacco for extra flavor—the kind of flavor smokers of longer length cigarettes want, but could never get before at such a low tar level. Taste tests proved it.

Test Data Conclusive

12 mg tar MERIT 100's were taste-tested against a number of major 100mm brands ranging from 17 mg to 19 mg tar.

Earvin Johnson Era Begins At MSU Tonight

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — After months of publicity and anticipation, Michigan State unveils its highly touted basketball squad tonight in the season opener against Central Michigan.

And fans won't be able to stretch out over three rows of seats at dusty old Jonson Field House anymore. Tonight's 8:05 p.m. game and every other home contest on the schedule are sellouts as people flock to the new game on campus.

The Earvin Johnson era has come to MSU, and visions of tournament bids and a new sports arena are dribbling through the minds of Spartan boosters.

As freshman star Johnson, his friend and former rival Jay Vincent and a 7-foot, 21-year-old Swedish newcomer join a couple of hot shooting veterans, MSU fans are talking about Big Ten contention. But Coach Jud Heathcote worries they may be expecting too much too soon.

"We've got our fingers crossed and hope we're as good as people around here think we should be," said the second-year coach. "But realism may set in sooner than people believe. We have to think we're a year away from having a really good basketball team."

"We're going to have a good team, but we're going to be inconsistent. We'll lose some games we should win, but some nights we'll play spectacularly and win some games maybe we shouldn't. That will be hard to explain around here."

Heathcote's problem is fitting so many divergent skills and inexperienced players together, and getting them to play as a unit — especially on defense.

"Offensively, we're a pretty good basketball team. Defensively, we're a pretty poor basketball team," he said bluntly.

Heathcote will start Johnson, a 6-foot-5 prep star from Lansing, Everett, and Greg Kelsner, a 6-7 junior who averaged 21.7 points a game last year, at forward. The guards will be senior Bob Chapman, who averaged 19.6 points last year, and sophomore Terry Donnelly.

Stan Feldreich of Sweden, who towers 7 feet in the air but weighs only 215 pounds, is the starting center, but Heathcote admits "that position is still up for grabs."

Behind Feldreich will be last year's starter, 6-9 senior Jim Coyle, who Heathcote labels a better defensive player, and 6-8 Vincent from Lansing Eastern, a better offensive player.

Other top reserves are forward Ron Charles and guard Len Williams.

MSU is coming off a 10-17 season last year, and went 7-11 in the Big Ten, good for sixth place. Heathcote refuses to predict where his team will finish this year, but admits "our goal is a post-season tournament bid."

Heathcote also notes wryly he is the only MSU coach to lose to CMU — accomplishing that in his first year.

The Chippewas opened their season Saturday night with an 82-73 victory over Indiana's Anderson College, and boasted five starters scoring in double figures in a balanced attack.

CMU lost two key players from last year's 18-10 team, but returns a group of veterans who will likely give the Spartans a solid test tonight.

Baltimore Finds Out Denver's For Real

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

Ted Marchibroda and the Baltimore Colts are the latest to learn what is becoming gospel around the National Football League: the Denver Broncos are for real.

The Broncos jumped to a 14-0 halftime lead over Baltimore in Sunday's battle of division leaders, saw the Colts chase to within 14-13, then turned them back with two fourth-quarter touchdowns in posting a 27-13 victory.

"You have to give Denver credit," said Marchibroda, impressed by the offense led by surprising Craig Morton and the rugged Orange Crush defense. "This was probably the biggest game they've been in, and they played almost errorless football."

The Broncos now are 10-1, the best record in the league. They lead defending Super Bowl champion Oakland by 1½ games in the American Football Conference's West Division.

Denver is a newcomer to the ranks of the NFL's elite, but four more familiar names — Dallas, Pittsburgh, Minnesota and Los Angeles — strengthened their playoff chances with victories Sunday.

The Dallas Cowboys, 8-2, took a commanding two-game lead over St. Louis in the National Football Conference's Eastern Division by edging arch-rival Washington 14-7 on a fourth-quarter touchdown by rookie Tony Dorsett. The Redskins now are three games back at 6-5, but have a slim chance at the NFC wild-card playoff berth.

The Pittsburgh Steelers, 7-4, took over sole possession of first place in the AFC Central, beating the New York Jets 23-20 as Terry Bradshaw threw two touchdown passes and the Steelers picked off five Jets aerials. The other three teams in the division, Cincinnati, Cleveland and Houston, are tied for second place at 6-5 in the league's closest divisional race.

The Minnesota Vikings got back on the winning track with a 13-6 triumph over Green Bay as Chuck Foreman ran through the snow for 101 yards. That put the Vikings, 7-4, one game ahead of Chicago in the NFC Central.

And the Los Angeles Rams stayed two games ahead of Atlanta in the NFC West, blanking the Cleveland Browns 30-0 in another game played in snow. It was only the fifth time the Browns have been blanked in 367 regular-season games.

Elsewhere in the NFL Sunday, the Cincinnati Bengals beat the New York Giants 30-13, the Houston Oilers defeated the Kansas City Chiefs 34-20, the Atlanta Falcons blanked the Tampa Bay Buccaneers 17-0, the New England Patriots topped the Philadelphia Eagles 14-0, the San Diego Chargers trounced the Seattle Seahawks 30-28 and the San Francisco 49ers edged the New Orleans Saints 20-17.

Chicago beat Detroit 31-14 and Miami walloped St. Louis 55-14 Thursday.

Buffalo plays at Oakland tonight in a game which the Raiders, 8-2, must win to stay within striking distance of Denver in the AFC West and remain the front-runner for the AFC wild card.

Morton staked the Broncos to their early lead with touchdown passes of 41 yards to Rick Upchurch and 19 to Jack Dolbin. Baltimore came back in the second half for a touchdown and two field goals behind the crisp, short passing of Bert Jones.

But Jones, who completed 11 passes to Don McCauley and nine to Lydell Mitchell, both running backs, suffered a critical interception in the final period.

With 7:20 to go in the game, he tried to dump a pass to McCauley in the flat. But Denver linebacker Tom Jackson stepped in front of McCauley, picked off the ball and dashed 73 yards for the clinching touchdown. Morton ran 5 yards for an insurance score with 1:14 left, but Jackson's TD was what turned the Colts.

With the score tied 7-7 in the fourth period, Dallas had the ball on the Redskins' 2-yard line with fourth down and one yard needed for a first down.

"My first inclination was to go for the field goal," said Cowboys Coach Tom Landry. "I just felt like that when you get in there, you ought not come out without any points."

Landry changed his mind, however, and Roger Staubach spoke over for a first down. On the next play, Dorsett hurdled the line for the game-winning score.

Bradshaw completed scoring strikes of 37 yards to John Stallworth and 5 yards to Lynn Swann, and Franco Harris ran 1 yard for a Pittsburgh touchdown, but Roy Gerela's 57-yard field goal with 5:58 to play proved to be the winning margin.

Harris gained 83 yards and became only the third player in NFL history to pile up over 5,000 yards in his first six seasons, joining Jimmy Brown and O.J. Simpson.

Chuck Foreman rushed for 101 yards and Bob Lee hooked up with Sammy White for a 41-yard scoring strike through the snow as Minnesota beat Green Bay.

Pat Haden completed 20 of 29 passes for 172 yards to Los Angeles while Lawrence McCutcheon and John Cappelletti led a solid ground game. Cappelletti's 7-yard touchdown run and Rafael Septien's 18-yard field goal were the only scores, but it was Los Angeles' defense which dominated the game.

The Bengals beat the Giants by beating the weather. Ken Anderson fired three first-half touchdown passes, including a 55-yard bomb to wide receiver Billy Brooks on Cincinnati's first play from scrimmage, before the snow came.

Houston built a 34-0 lead as Dan Pastorini threw three touchdown passes, including two to Ken Burroughs, then coasted past Kansas City.

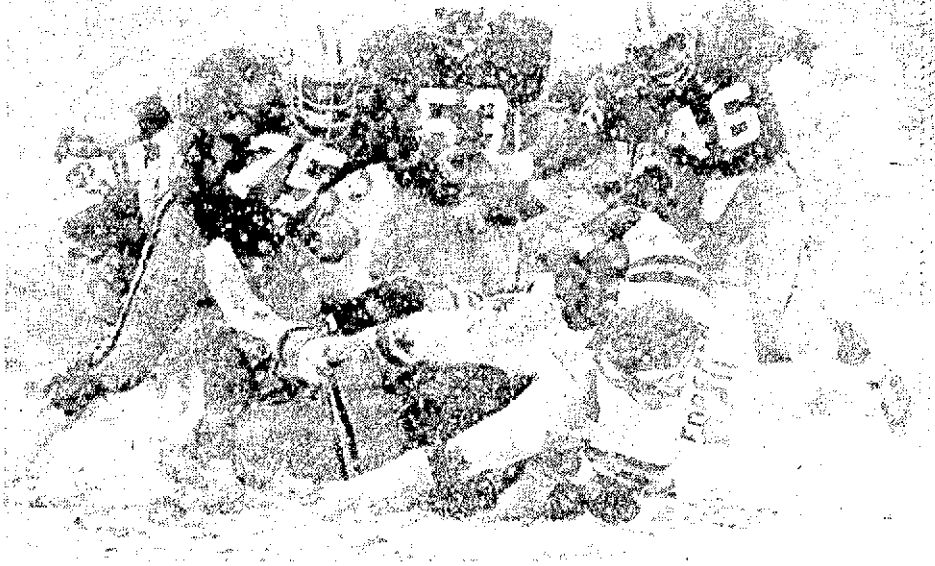

Jaskei Stanback scored both Atlanta touchdowns on 1-yard plunges.

The Falcons have given up just 83 points in 11 games and have a shot at the record for fewest points allowed in a 14-game season, 133 by Minnesota in 1969.

Steve Grogan passed for two touchdowns in the first half and the New England defense made them stand up, sacking Philadelphia quarterback Ron Jaworski eight times.

Dan Fouts, who rejoined San Diego last week after a 125-day holdout, found Charlie Joiner with a 17-yard touchdown pass and defensive end Fred Dean raced 22 yards with an interception for another fourth-quarter score, leading the Chargers over Seattle.

Ray Wersching's 42-yard field goal as time ran out provided the winning points for the 49ers, who got 180 yards rushing from Willard Jackson.

PLOWING THROUGH SNOW: Minnesota's Chuck Foreman plows forward for eight-yard gain Sunday during game in heavy snowfall at Green Bay. Closing in for Green Bay are Dave Pureifory (75), Fred Carr (53) and Steve Luke (46). Minnesota won the NFL game 13-0. (AP Laserphoto)

Making Up For Lost Time

Baxter Sparks Michigan

BOWLING GREEN, Ky. (AP) — Michigan Coach Johnny Orr says guard Dave Baxter has been "waiting for his chance" for three years. Now that the waiting is over, Baxter is apparently anxious to make up for lost time.

Almost singlehandedly, Baxter, a 6-foot-3 senior guard, destroyed Western Kentucky in Michigan's 87-81 victory here Saturday night. It was the season opener for both teams.

Connecting on 11 of 15 shots from the field, Baxter scored 28 points and had 11 assists as he guided the 13th-ranked Wolverines' offense against a surprisingly stubborn Western Kentucky squad.

In fact, the Hilltoppers were leading 70-69 with 6:28 left in the game when Baxter's 22-foot jump shot put Michigan back in front to stay.

Baxter has "been playing behind some good players for three years now and he's been waiting for his chance," Orr said after the game. "This was a great way for him to start off his senior year."

For his part, Baxter had only kind words for Western Kentucky, which lost to Michigan 94-70 last year at Ann Arbor. "They kept coming at us and I like that," Baxter said. "They didn't quit."

Michigan won the game at the foot line, where they connected on 17 of 18 shots. The Wolverines made 10 of their last 12 points from the charity strip. Western Kentucky, meanwhile, hit on 19 of 32 free throws.

The Hilltoppers were charged with just one foul in the first half, while the Wolverines were charged with 15, but Orr said he didn't have too many complaints about the officiating.

"I realize they shot a lot more free throws, but I don't have any complaints with the officiating," Orr said. "I thought they missed a couple of good tending calls, but we did foul a lot. I wanted us to be aggressive."

Both Orr and Western Kentucky Coach Jim Richards praised the performance of James Johnson, the Hilltoppers' 6-7 center-forward. Johnson led all scorers with 29 points, hitting on 12 of 17 from the field, and also grabbed 13 rebounds.

Orr said Johnson, who relies on 10-12 foot turnaround jump shots, "makes them a strong team inside."

Not only did Johnson score, he "also played well on defense and on the boards," Richards said. "I don't know if we'll ever see him play better than we did" against Michigan.

Irish Pound Ole Miss '5'

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Mississippi Coach Bob Weltlich, former assistant to defense-minded Bobby Knight at Indiana, readily admits Saturday's performance against fourth-ranked Notre Dame was no defensive gem.

"We got pounded to death," Weltlich said after the Irish routed to an easy 111-62 season-opening victory. "But we let ourselves get pounded because we played a poor defensive game."

"Any time you let your opponent score 111 points, you've got to consider your defensive effort poor," the Mississippi coach said.

Notre Dame, meanwhile, connected on 62 per cent of its shots from the field and that, as Weltlich observed, "will hurt any defensive performance."

Senior guard Duck Williams and freshman forward Kelly Tripucka scored 16 points apiece to lead the Irish, but what pleased Coach Digger Phelps the most was the team's balance with five players in double figures.

"I liked our scoring and playing balance," he said. "That is the kind of balance that we want all year. We want the consistent offense out of eight or nine players. When we did jump out, we established the flow of the game."

The Irish freshmen combined for 42 points, and Phelps said he wants to play them "early in the season so that by March they will be better players."

Mississippi led only once, 4-2, and came within one, 21-20, before Notre Dame outscored the Rebels 22-4 in the next five minutes.

Bruce Flowers added 13 points and Rich Branning and Tracy Jackson chipped in 12 apiece for the Irish.

Sophomore forward John Stroud led Mississippi with 18 points, and center Kim Benson, brother of Milwaukee Bucks' center and former Indiana University All-American Kent Benson, added 11.

The Irish, who host Baylor Wednesday night, dominated the boards 53-28.

SJ's Adkin Wins Coaching Debut

Hustling Bears Nip Lancers

By JACK WALKDEN
Staff Sports Writer

Clare Adkin demands hustle from any basketball team he coaches.

And Saturday night Adkin's philosophy paid quick dividends for St. Joseph. The hustling Bears rallied to nip Lakeshore 56-55, giving Adkin his first varsity coaching win.

The annual season opener for the two teams drew a near-capacity crowd of about 2,500 fans to the Lancer Gym.

"We did it the hard way," Adkin smiled. "But we hustled. We just sacrificed ourselves and that was the difference."

"The kids took a couple of charges in key situations. They were diving for the ball. It was just a total effort. We were so cold in our shooting that if we hadn't hustled, I don't think we would have been in the game."

St. Joe hit a respectable 44 per cent from the floor on 25 of 57. But the Bears connected on only six of 21 free throw attempts, a nearly fatal statistic. Lakeshore wasn't much better, hitting just 22 of 63 from the floor (35 per cent) and only 11 of 23 charities.

In the end it was those intangibles which made the difference for St. Joe.

"The little things like a couple of out-of-bounds plays or a turnover here and there were the big difference," Adkin said.

Jeff Beal led the Bears with 14 points. Steve Ziebart added 13 and Kevin Wheeler 10. Odele Brister and Paul Freer each tossed in 16 for Lakeshore, while Scott Lee tallied 10.

St. Joe was forced to start without regular Paul Knuth, who is still nursing a back injury. Knuth came off the bench to play a key role for the Bears, however.

"Paul played about half the game and that was a pleasant surprise," Adkin said. "He got in there and settled us down. He's an excellent passer and floor leader and he got the ball into the middle better."

Lakeshore led much of the game and held leads as big as seven points, the last time at 37-30.

St. Joe finally passed the Lancers at 41-40 on a basket by Keene Taylor with just over five minutes left in the game.

The Bears built up a 51-42 lead and then held off a late Lakeshore rally for the victory. The Lancers actually had a chance in at least tie the game with 31 seconds left.

With St. Joe on top 55-51, Knuth was whistled for his fifth personal and also hit with a technical foul.

Lee hit two of the three free throws to trim the Bear margin to 55-53 and Lakeshore got the ball. A 15-footer from the corner by Doug Thompson fell off the mark, however, and Wheeler was fouled during the rebound battle.

Wheeler hit the first free throw with 16 seconds left, making Brister's bucket at the buzzer meaningless.

"St. Joe's rebounding in the final quarter really hurt us," said Jim Sanford, coaching his first varsity game for Lakeshore. "And we had some lapses on defense that hurt us. I'm mad at myself for not putting in our press earlier. That upset them. We disrupted their game when we started putting pressure on them in the fourth quarter."

Lakeshore was forced to play much of the game without 6-3 forward Mark Stockwell. Stockwell left the game with 58 seconds left in the first half with a back injury.

Lakeshore held a 43-38 board edge according to respective team charts. Brister pulled down 16 rebounds and Lee nine for the Lancers. Bryan Bruen and Taylor each grabbed eight caroms and Beal seven for the Bears.

St. Joe committed 28 turnovers in 25 for Lakeshore.

"The kids never gave up," Sanford said. "They really scrapped. It wasn't that we didn't give everything we had. I'm not discouraged. I thought we showed good aggressiveness."

The victory was the seventh straight by St. Joe over Lakeshore.

St. Joe also won the junior varsity preliminary 55-51 in overtime.

Bob Buchholz scored 16. Wes Rice 12 and Bradley Wheeler 11 for the Bears. Mike Mervenne tallied 13 and Chuck Jager 11 for the Lancers.

Dohm Is Beavers' Hero

In Win Over Chieftains

EAU CLAIRE — Brian Dohm scored just five points Saturday night for Eau Claire.

But the little 5-7 senior guard was the hero as the Beavers captured their first win of the season. Dohm hit a free throw with three seconds left to give Eau Claire a thrilling 68-66 non-league basketball win over Dowagiac.

The win evened the Beavers record at 1-1. Eau Claire had dropped its opener Friday night to New Buffalo 65-52.

"It should give the kids a little extra lift to get that first win the way we got it," Eau Claire Coach Dave Gray said. "The kids played tonight the way I thought they would last night. It was a total team effort."

Everybody did their job."

Dohm's winning toss came on the first end of a one-and-one. He missed the second attempt, and Dowagiac grabbed the rebound. But a midcourt shot at the buzzer fell short.

Chuck Hunter led the Beavers with 20 points. The 6-0 senior guard hit on 10 of 20 from the floor and added six of eight at the charity stripe. Sophomore forward Don Geisler added 16 points and Dan Newman scored 10.

Bob Ward tallied 17 for Dowagiac, now 0-1. Rodney Payne added 16.

The game was decided at the free throw line. Dowagiac had six more field goals than Eau Claire (23-25). But the Beavers hit on 23 of 34 at the foul line to 10 of 20 for the Chieftains.

Dowagiac led 22-18 at the end of the first quarter and held a commanding 40-28 lead midway through the second period. Eau Claire rallied to trim the deficit to just 42-40 at halftime.

The Beavers finally caught and passed the Chieftains late in the third quarter and held a 60-57 lead at the period's end.

"We got the lead at the end of the third quarter and then stalled," Gray said. "We wanted to bring them out of their zone."

The strategy eventually paid off with Dohm's winning free throw.

Eau Claire hit on 21 of 46 from the floor for an even 50 per cent. Dowagiac found the range on 20 of 60 for 40 per cent.

The Beavers turned the ball over 24 times to 21 for Dowagiac.

Eau Claire also won the junior varsity game 46-41 in overtime.

Great Hiler Effort

WATERVLIET — Jon Hiler's one-man effort was not enough for Watervliet here Saturday night.

Hiler poured in 32 points and pulled down 18 rebounds, but the Panthers still dropped a 66-58 decision to Decatur in a non-league basketball game.

The 6-2 senior forward hit on 14 of 23 from the floor in his brilliant performance.

"The loss was the second straight for the Panthers. But Watervliet coach Gene Bednarowski saw a great deal of improvement over his team's 65-52 setback to Galien Friday night. It's taking time for the kids to gain experience," said Bednarowski, who saw nine players graduate from last year's 29-7 team.

"But tonight's effort was a world of difference over last night."

"We just played a lot better. Our whole game improved. Last night we couldn't get the ball in the basket, but we shot a lot better."

The Panthers shot just 28 per cent from the floor against Galien, but against Decatur hit on 25 of 64 for 39 per cent.

Balanced scoring helped Decatur, now 1-0, take the win. Sophomore Steve Overley led the Raiders with 19 points. Dennis Warkentien added 16 and Tim Cerven scored 13.

The Raiders trailed 19-18 at the end of the first quarter, but grabbed a 39-35 halftime lead. Decatur was on top 43-43 after three quarters.

Watervliet held a 37-29 board edge with Dave Groendyk grabbing 10 caroms.

The Panthers turned the ball over 22 times to 20 for Decatur.

Watervliet did win the junior varsity game.

GENERAL — CHARLOTTE, N.C. — Preston Humphries of Shelby, N.C., was killed when a Chevy II he was driving collided with two other cars in a 15-car pileup during the Turkey 100 stock car race at Metrolina Speedway. He was 37.

ROME — Robert Elmore, a former Wichita State basketball player, was found dead in his apartment, apparently a victim of drug abuse. He was 23.

NMI Beaten In Playoffs

FARGO, N.D. (AP) — Northern Michigan Coach Gil Krueger angrily denounced the site of a National Collegiate Athletic Association Division II playoff game Saturday, where his Wildcats lost a quarterfinals game, 20-6, on a snowy, blustery field.

Top-ranked North Dakota State advanced to the semifinals next Saturday at Jacksonville, Ala. State, which defeated Northern Arizona in another playoff game Saturday at Flagstaff, Ariz.

Temperature at game time was 7 degrees with a 14 mile per hour wind. Snow started falling in the second half on the artificial turf.

"We've played here three times (in playoffs games) in atrocious weather," Krueger said. "They don't play bowl games up here. Why don't they have these games down south?" "We made the playoffs," Krueger said of his tenth-ranked team. "What a great

He said, "Either one of the teams could have won. It was just the breaks of the game."

The Wildcats lost the ball four times on eight fumbles and had one pass intercepted. Three of the turnovers led to Bison touchdowns.

North Dakota State lost the ball once on a pass interception and didn't fumble.

"If we made them earn a touchdown, they couldn't get one," Krueger continued. "They must be an outstanding defensive ball club," he said.

Second-year Bison Coach Jim Wacker said, "Our one pass interception led to their only touchdown. It was a great defensive job. Our goal line stand won it."

Denver Red Hot; ND Sweeps MSU

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

Red-hot Denver won two overtime games to extend its winning streak to nine games, and Notre Dame exploded for 10 goals Saturday to complete a two-game sweep for its first victories of the season in the Western Collegiate Hockey Association last weekend.

Denver, 9-1, whipped Minnesota-Duluth 4-3 and 5-4 as Alex Belcourt scored one winning goal and set up the other.

UMD tied the score 4-4 Saturday, on a goal by Dan Lempe after pulling its goalie, but Belcourt, who got the game-winner Friday, fired a slap shot which was tipped in at 6:22 of the overtime by Mark Falcone.

The pair of wins kept the Pioneers one game ahead of Wisconsin, while Duluth, 1-9, slipped into last place behind Notre Dame.

The Irish swept two from Michigan State, bombing the Spartans 10-2 Saturday behind two goals by Terry Fairholm. Notre Dame got five goals in the second period, including three in the first three minutes to hand State its sixth defeat.

Surging Wisconsin completed a sweep over Minnesota, beating the Gophers 5-3 Saturday.

The Badgers, 8-2, notched their sixth straight win while Minnesota, which has lost four in a row, dropped to 4-5.

Michigan 7-3, remained two games back with a 6-3 victory over Colorado College. A third-period power play goal by Tim Manning broke a 3-3 deadlock.

Ben Kawa added an unassisted goal with less than four minutes left and Bill Maurer tied the game for the Wolverines with an empty-net goal late in the game.

North Dakota erupted for four goals in the first period and then hung on to edge Michigan Tech 5-4 and gain a split in their series.

Junior Bill Himmeldrecht had two assists for North Dakota to break the Sioux career scoring mark for defensemen. He has 65 points, one more than Terry Abram totaled from 1968-1969.

Tech, 5-5, is tied with Minnesota and Colorado. North Dakota is 4-6.

Conference play this weekend sends Wisconsin in Michigan for a pair of key games. Denver hosts North Dakota, Colorado College travels to Minnesota. Michigan Tech hosts Notre Dame and Michigan State visits UMD.

LMC Cagers Third In Tourney

PORT HURON — Lake Michigan College finished third in the Bluewater Classic basketball tournament over the weekend here.

The Indians were beaten by defending state champion Henry Ford Community College 75-73 Friday night and then blasted St. Clair Community College 109-77.

Henry Ford held a 40-15 half-time lead and then held off LMC in the second half to hand the Indians their first loss of the season.

Freddie Walker tossed in 28 points and Greg Cole added 14 for LMC.

Cole tossed in 24 points and Walker and Ricky Ivy each chipped in 21.

"It was the best basketball we've played all year," said Harvey, whose team is now 4-1. "We ran the ball and rebounded well. We executed real well and didn't make a lot of mistakes. We're getting better. We were aggressive on defense, too."

Walker, who tallied 49 points in the two games, was named to the all-tournament team.

Walker is now averaging 22.1 points per game in the five Indian contests.

LMC is home this weekend, hosting St. Clair at 8 p.m. Friday and Monroe Community College at 7:30 p.m. Saturday.

K-Wings Lose To Toledo

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Toledo centerman Jim McCabe blasted in four goals to lead the Gaalediggers to an 8-5 victory over the Kalamazoo Wings Sunday in International Hockey League action.

Kalamazoo's arrival was delayed by foul weather, causing the game to start 1½ hours late.

The Gaalediggers, who outshot the Wings 46-33, moved into first place in the IHL South Division with a record of 9-5-4 and 22 points. The Wings' record dropped to 3-10-5 for 11 points.

Customers Make Own Change

Honesty Is Cafe's Main Fare

By MART TARDANI
TRAVERSE CITY, Mich.
(AP) — It looks like any family-type restaurant you'll find in a thousand American communities the size of Traverse City.

counter, booths in the middle aisle and alongside a wall the length of the dining area.

But this one is different. It isn't the food. Nor is it the prices.

What makes Stacey's Restaurant unusual is that it may be the only establishment in the nation without a cashier. The customer makes his or her own change.

Customers are simply given a dinner check or told by a waitress how much the bill is. Then it's up to him to walk up to the cash register and do as they tell him.

"Ring up the amount, and hit the yellow key," Julia Stathakis advises the customer as she pours coffee.

The till swings open and in it are $1, $5, $10 and $20 bills neatly stacked under another in separate compartments.

And all this without any suspicious cashier watching your every move.

"We do it all the time," said Mrs. Stathakis, who with her husband, Charles, owns the popular restaurant. "Why should anybody want to steal from me?"

In a big city, she acknowledged, she would go bankrupt in about five minutes.

"I think in the big city they cheat each other because they don't trust each other," she said.

"We let our customers make their own change because if you trust people they won't cheat on you. The only ones people steal from are the people they don't trust."

She said she has learned from the experiment that people basically are honest.

"We've been doing this for most of the 20 years we've been here. Once a man discovered he had shortchanged me out of a dollar. He sent me a check and apologized. And I have the letter at home to prove it," she said.

"A banker who does business in the block came in one day and handed me a $5 bill. He said it had to be mine because it was all he had when he reported to work. He had eaten here and said he must have forgotten to put it in the register."

'Adopted Parents' Help School

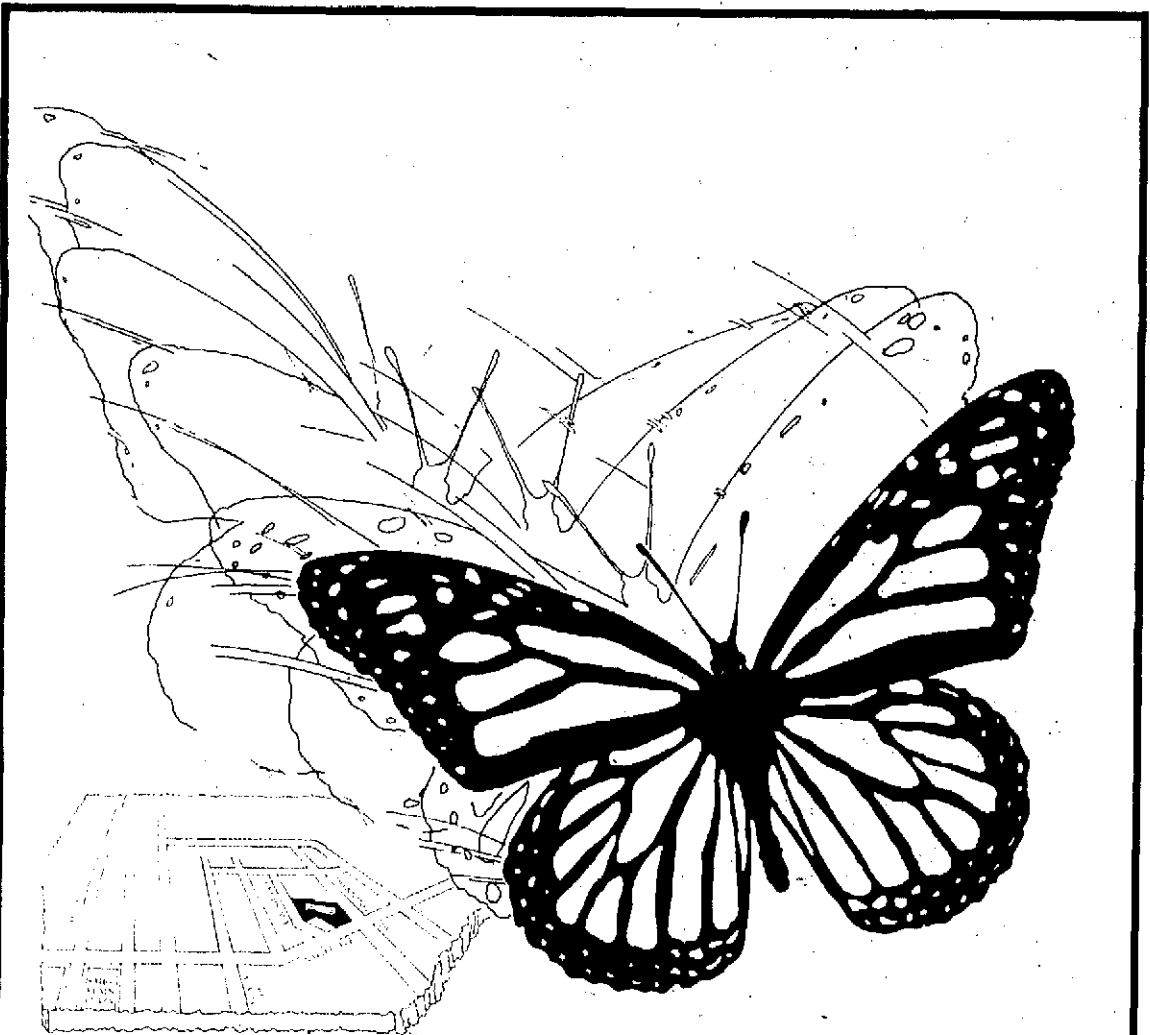

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — The "adopted parents" of an East Oakland high school are offering free record albums as an incentive to lure students who read at the fourth grade level to remedial classes.

Castlemont High School, an aging inner-city school, has been adopted by the Clorox Co. under the school district's "Adopt-a-School" program. The corporation will be donating $13,500 in books and teaching aids to the school this year.

The incentives the firm is offering — record albums, pocket calculators and encyclopedias — are beginning to foster improved attendance at reading classes for 75 sophomores who read at or below the fourth grade level, school officials said.

Superintendent Ruth Love said specific figures were not available but she added that the payoffs were getting more students to attend on a regular basis.

In addition, Clorox is giving the school librarian $200 a month to buy new books and employees have been contributing used books.

— NOTICE — CETA TITLE-II PUBLIC SERVICE EMPLOYMENT

The County of Berrien has positions available for public service employment under Title II of CETA. Present funding allows an additional 37 positions to be funded through September 30, 1978. The Department of Labor mandated that the starting dates have to be staggered through the winter months, with 12 positions starting by December 26; an additional 12 positions starting by January 3; and the remaining 13 positions starting by February 1, 1978.

Eligible applicants include units of general purpose local government and agencies thereof, combinations of associations of such governmental units whose primary purpose is to provide public services, special purpose political subdivisions having the power to tax and spend funds, local educational agencies, institutions of higher education, community development corporations, non-profit groups and organizations serving Indians and other non-profit private organizations or institutions engaged in public service.

Berrien County CETA is accepting, processing and developing subgrant applications and agreements for the most effective utilization of Public Service Employment funds. The PSE positions will be allocated by formula to areas in the County based upon unemployment and labor force. (PLEASE NOTE: These PSE positions are not related to Title VI Special Projects)

In the event that your agency or political subdivision is interested in the Title II PSE positions, Application Packages are currently available at the CETA Office, 145 W. Main Street, Benton Harbor, Michigan, 49022, 927-2476. No previously submitted applications will be considered in this selection, so if you have applied in the past, please resubmit.

The deadline for applications is Wednesday, December 7, 1977 at 5:00 p.m. NO late applications nor exceptions will be accepted.

Canal Issue Shadowing Presidential Hopeful Baker

By DONALD M. ROTHBERG
AP Political Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Wherever Howard Baker's presidential ambitions lead him, the Panama Canal issue is sure to follow.

As minority leader of the Senate, the Tennessee Republican is under intense pressure from opponents of the canal treaty to come out against it. But he insists on remaining neutral until the Senate debate on ratification begins, probably in February.

"I simply am not going to be pushed off that rock," says Baker, who argues that as minority leader he must not align himself this early with either side on an issue that divides his party.

Baker is a special target of treaty opponents, but he is not the only Republican with White House ambitions who is uncomfortable with the volatile Panama issue.

One of the questions asked most frequently at a recent meeting of Southern Republicans, who are overwhelmingly opposed to ratification of the canal treaty, was whether any Republican who supports the pact could win the GOP presidential nomination in 1980.

Four presidential hopefuls appeared at the Southern Republican Conference in Orlando, Fla., and only Ronald Reagan took an unequivocal stand in opposition to ratification of the treaty that would turn control of the canal over to Panama in the year 2000.

Baker had some uncomfortable moments when delegates pressed him to abandon his neutrality. And neither Sen. Bob Dole of Kansas nor former Gov. John B. Connally of Texas appeared anxious to be pressed for their views on the canal.

As a senator, Dole shares Baker's problem of being forced to vote for or against ratification. He has dealt with it by calling for a number of changes in the treaty as submitted to the Senate, a strategy that might enable him to vote for a treaty that seems to offer Panama far less than what U.S. negotiators were willing to give.

Connally now looks like the candidate who would inherit the strong Reagan support throughout the South if the former California governor decided against another presidential campaign.

But when asked about the canal, Connally is far softer than Reagan.

"I don't think I have all the information I need to make a determination," said the Texan who then added that "my instinct is to be against ratification."

Connally has advocated dropping the issue in the laps of the voters by holding a national referendum on ratification in 1978. At the same time, he insists, "I don't want to make a political issue of it."

Talking to delegates at the Southern Republican Conference and watching their reactions to various speakers, two points come across clearly: they still love Reagan and they strongly oppose the canal treaty.

But although the ideological fervor of Southern Republicans has a special intensity, some among them retain a touch of political pragmatism. They want to win and they dislike locking themselves into a position that could lead to disaster in 1980.

Charles Pickering, the Mississippi Republican chairman, sees the canal as a "very strong" issue in 1980.

"It's going to be one of the issues involved in the selection of the Republican nominee in 1980," said Pickering, but he stopped short of saying that no supporter of the treaty could win Southern support.

"The overwhelming majority of the people of Alabama are against ratification," said William D. Harris, the Alabama GOP chairman.

But when asked if the issue might be decisive at the 1980 GOP convention, Harris said, "I don't know."

Baker and Bill Brock, the former Tennessee senator who now is Republican national chairman, made it clear they aren't certain the canal will remain an emotional issue in 1980.

Baker appears convinced that arms negotiations with the Soviet Union are likely to be a more significant issue in the next presidential campaign and he took pains in Orlando to express his disagreement with some of the U.S. proposals at the current talks in Geneva.

BAKER WON'T BUDGE FROM NEUTRALITY

HUNTED LADY Ex-Soap Opera Star Resumes Suffering

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — For three years, Donna Mills was in a soap opera, "Love is a Many Splendored Thing." As Mrs. Laura Elliott, she says, she suffered a lot, as is the custom in soap operadom.

Her husband dallied with an older woman. She got pregnant, but lost the baby. She ran off with a merchant seaman. She lost her memory. She stole her sister's baby. She also had a bad car accident.

It was at this point, smiled Miss Mills, an attractive, blonde-haired, blue-eyed native of Chicago, "I had to leave. I couldn't take it any more." But tonight she resumes her suffering.

This time, it is as a Los Angeles police detective on the run in a two-hour NBC movie, "The Hunted Lady." The show, which she hopes will become a series, was produced by Quinn Martin.

Martin is the chap who in 1963 began "The Fugitive," in which David Janssen played a doctor on the lam. Tonight's effort may seem just warmed-over lam, but Miss Mills says there are differences.

Her fugitive character is not just running from the law (she was framed by the mob after she investigated a politician the mob secretly owned). She also is being chased by a mob hit man, whose marching orders are: "Find her, silence her."

But the big difference, she says, is an obvious one. "The difference between a man running and a woman running, a woman alone on the road, trying to get jobs and coping with living alone."

In the show's grand finale, she added, she'll still be on the run, which would set the stage for a series if NBC says keep running.

If such happens, it wouldn't be her first prime time series. A few years ago, after playing Clint Eastwood's old flame in "Play Misty For Me," she co-starred in a short-lived comedy, "The Good Life."

"It was fun while it lasted, but after that I got offered every comedy pilot in the world," she said. "But I turned them all down because I didn't want to get typed as a comedy actress."

"But then," she grinned, "I started doing a lot of 'victim' roles for some reason." She had reference to TV movies involving a damsel, her, in dire distress.

After this, she said, "I started being more selective and went for a wide variety of roles, even as a killer."

Miss Mills, soft-spoken and pleasant in manner, has logged 20 credits in as many TV movies since "The Good Life" expired. In fact, she just finished one, a Super Bowl thriller for ABC.

Ethiopians Lose Again

MOGADISHU, Somalia (AP) — More reverses are reported for Soviet-backed Ethiopian forces in the Ogaden war. Somali rebels breached the walls of the key city of Harar and have trapped a large government force 23 miles to the east, rebel sources say.

Diplomatic sources said the Western Somali Liberation Front secured hills overlooking Harar on three sides, and a force of 800 to 1,000 guerrillas broke through the city's ancient walls to battle government troops in the streets. One guerrilla source said the rebels gained control of Harar, one of the last two Ethiopian strongholds in the Ogaden, but another source said the rebels held only a small part of the city.

REED MAES of Ann Arbor, Mich., shows off the greenhouse in which he expects to "grow his own" the year around. (AP Laserphoto)

RAISED BY 'SOLAR HEATING'

His Lettuce Tastes Better

By GLEN HARRIS

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — "I had lettuce in the middle of winter last year," recalls Reed Maes, folding his arms together to brace against the morning chill. "Real good lettuce," he added, emphasizing the "real good" part.

The difference between the lettuce Maes had and the lettuce the rest of us ate is that he grew his own, right from the ground, during Michigan's worst winter of the century. His secret isn't a miracle strain of lettuce. It's the world's oldest furnace. By trapping heat from the sun, Maes is capable of producing greenhouse produce that he says doesn't taste like greenhouse produce. Solar heating, it's called.

Maes' greenhouse is a 200-by-30-foot structure on his 12-acre farm. The difference between his greenhouse and most others is apparent only from the inside. Hanging from a line of rafters is a series of insulated polyurethane panels which trap solar heat hitting the south side of the structure. During the day, the panels are cranked up (via a pulley system) to flood direct sunlight on the plants. At night, the panels are lowered to retain the heat.

Sides of the greenhouse dip four feet underground for insulation. In addition, Maes has rigged a heating system in which daytime heat is transferred to buried rocks which during the night provide extra heat. He also plans to install 40 to 50 barrels of water which will capture daylight warmth for nighttime release. "People don't believe you can do it when you tell them," he said. "But they believe it after they've seen it."

Maes' greenhouse could produce enough vegetables to feed 30 people for a year, and the same design can be sized downward for backyard use, he said. As Maes has built on what nature has to offer, he also can fall victim when nature is stingy with its sunshine. When the skies over Michigan are cloud laden, he said, "solar energy doesn't have a chance."

State Legislative Session Has Only 3 Weeks Left

By MALCOLM JOHNSON
Associated Press Writer
LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Only three weeks remain for state lawmakers to write their record of success — or failure — for the first year of the 1977-78 legislative session.

And already legislative leaders have resigned themselves to putting off much of the major work until next year.

The problem with that is that 1978 is an election year — for everybody. The governor's office, state House and Senate, a U.S. Senate seat, congressional seats and the offices of attorney general and secretary of state all are up for grabs.

That means state legislators will be impatient to get out on the campaign trail. Gov. William Milliken will be turning more of his attention to politics instead of government if he seeks re-election.

Not only will there be less time to thrash out crucial issues, but politically touchy ones may be shunned until election day is past. That could be fatal for items which have not yet gotten a push.

Among the topics which got high priority from Milliken, majority Democrats, or both — but which have seen little action — are wetlands protection, land use, new sentencing procedures, welfare reorganization, school financing changes and workers' compensation revisions. And backers can hardly hope to win passage of such complicated and hot issues in an election year.

Other key bills have passed one house or the other, but have seen little discussion in the second chamber. The Senate, for example, has House-approved legislation to crack down on pornography, restrict bail for career criminals, revise the health code, impose tougher heroin penalties and provide added protection for car buyers.

The House, meanwhile, has a Senate-passed bill to establish a chemical control commission aimed at curbing pollution.

So far this year, the main legislative accomplishments have been enacting a budget stabilization fund, outlawing redlining, lowering PBB tolerance limits and repealing the ban on teaching birth control in schools. Lawmakers blocked a rollback in the income tax and rejected lower penalties for marijuana abuses.

A House-Senate conference committee is expected to reach some compromise soon on a bill revising the state's business tax. And a tentative agreement with special interest groups has cleared the way for preliminary work on a transportation package.

The House returns tonight to begin debate on a $17.5 million plan to provide relief from skyrocketing winter utility bills for the poor and senior citizens. The Democratic-sponsored plan is expected to come under sharp fire from Republicans, who have their own plan.

Also on the House calendar is

The Senate comes back Tuesday. It faces debate on a bill providing money for a study on the effects of PBB on human health, a measure to make sure pension benefits keep flowing for retired school employees and a bill authorizing tax breaks for new or renovated businesses.

Today In History

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Monday, Nov. 28, the 332nd day of 1977. There are 33 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1520, Portuguese navigator Ferdinand Magellan reached the Pacific Ocean after passing through the South American strait which now bears his name.

On this date: In 1821, Panama declared itself independent of Spain and joined the Republic of Colombia.

In 1843, Britain and France recognized the independence of Hawaii.

In 1942, nearly 500 people died in a fire that destroyed the Cocoanut Grove nightclub in Boston.

In 1943, President Franklin Roosevelt, Soviet Premier Joseph Stalin and British Prime Minister Winston Churchill met at Tehran, Iran to map World War II strategy.

In 1963, President Lyndon Johnson announced that Cape Canaveral, Fla. would be renamed Cape Kennedy in honor of the late President John Kennedy.

In 1969, West Germany's new government under Chancellor Willy Brandt took its first major foreign policy step by signing the nuclear non-proliferation treaty.

Ten years ago: The United Nations General Assembly refused for the 18th time to seat Communist China.

Five years ago: President Richard Nixon began to put together a new cabinet, picking Elliot Richardson as Secretary of Defense and Caspar Weinberger as Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare.

One year ago: Actress Rosalind Russell died in Los Angeles at the age of 63.

Today's birthdays: Pianist Jose Iturbi is 82 years old. Singer Rose Bampton is 68. Thought for today: In quietness and in confidence shall be your strength — the Book of Isaiah.

PAT BAILEY LEARNS her way around the grounds of Belleville, Mich., High School with the help of her orientation and mobility instructor, George Lees. (AP Laserphoto)

She Chose Between Blindness, Death

By BILL DALTON
BELLEVILLE, Mich. (AP) — Packs of cigarettes are making the rounds while several students sneak a smoke, relaxing outside during a break from classroom clouds of chalk dust.

Pat Bailey carefully makes her way down the Belleville High School stairs and taps her way past the students without a glance.

Miss Bailey is two busy learning to find her way around school in notice, for she is blind. But she hasn't always been.

A few months ago, she was just like any of the mostly carefree teenagers here, an honor roll student and active in church functions.

Becoming blind was a painful yet courageous choice for the 15-year-old sophomore — a choice between being sightless and death.

Miss Bailey experienced sudden, severe, unexplained headaches in March. Tests disclosed what physicians and family both feared — a brain tumor. And it was lodged in the area responsible for vision.

When Miss Bailey came out of the delicate surgery after removal of the tumor in May, she entered a world of darkness forever.

The headaches were gone, and the chemotherapy treatments she had undergone apparently were working.

Several side effects erupted up from medication and disruption of the thyroid gland, as well as losing her sense of smell. Small things really, considering some thought she might never return to school at all.

Miss Bailey, however, has been beating the odds. And beating blindness.

But it is a daily struggle. This was her first try at "outside mobility" training since she returned to school in September.

It was a tiring 90 minutes spent finding her way up and down a 25-yard stretch of sidewalk, memorizing its twists and turns, dodging scurrying students, listening for familiar sounds that might be remembered later to relocate a door or avoid a car.

At the end of the weekly session she sits down in a near state of exhaustion. But she still can manage a small smile, even during those slightly startling moments when her cane rustled an unexpected pile of leaves between classes.

Belleville, Mich., Sophomore Getting Used To Sightlessness near the curb.

"It's nice to be back," she said, something she fought fur from the beginning. To do so, she had to overcome an initial suggestion by school officials that she remain in the familiar setting of her old junior high school this year to adjust.

But because of her determination, officials went to bat for her. Now, Miss Bailey is the only blind person at Belleville High among some 1,700 seeing students crowding halls between classes.

She's in the middle of the crowd, swinging her cane back and forth, moving almost as fast as they do, making her way to a half schedule of classes, including home economics, typing and college preparatory English.

Still, the first few weeks were shaky, she acknowledges. Clinging to someone's arm, Miss Bailey apprehensively would make her way to classes, dodging locker and room doors opening out into the hall.

There were moments of not being sure coming back was such a good idea.

Suddenly becoming blind is naturally traumatic, according to Gail Hull, the school district's consultant for the visually impaired.

Miss Bailey wasn't the only one with some adjustments to make. Students with normal sight reacted uneasily at first to a blind person in their midst. A hush would follow Miss Bailey's tapping cane as she made her way down the halls. But no more.

Some small classroom adjustments have been made so Miss Bailey can take her tests orally or type the answers. Her schoolbooks have been translated to Braille and tapes. But other than that, she's treated just like any other student in her studies, according to school officials.

After she learned how to get around inside the school, Miss Bailey was instructed on how to do the same outside with the help of George Lees from the Greater Detroit Society for the Blind.

"Working with Pat has been a nice change for me," he said. "I usually only work with senior citizens, people in their 70s and 80s," he said.

Blindness has meant some things have changed for Miss Bailey. She still teaches Sunday school at the First Missionary Baptist Church of Belleville. But she can't be secretary of an organization there anymore. And she still types just as well as she used to when she had her vision.

"It was tough at first," she said. "But I found I could do lots of things easily. The best part is being back with my friends, meeting new people."

"It's exciting to be in high school. I really wanted to go back. It was my decision, and I'm glad I did."

Arrest Ends Long Search

LINCOLN PARK, Mich. (AP) — An 18-month search for a Detroit man named in a 12-count felony warrant charging him with kidnapping, armed robbery and sexual assault has ended with the man's arrest in Savannah, Ga. Lincoln Park police Det. Robert Hoyer said James Lee Anderson, 28, was arrested Friday under a federal fugitive warrant. The charges against Anderson stem from incidents involving two couples in Taylor and one in Lincoln Park. Both occurred in May 1976. Hoyer said a Lincoln Park policeman is being sent to Georgia to return Anderson to Michigan.

Surprise Attack Talks Urged

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — A movement is on in Western Europe and the United States to get the Soviets and the Western allies talking again about prevention of a surprise attack in Western Europe. Chancellor Helmut Schmidt of West Germany and two Democrats in the U.S. Congress, Sen. Sam Nunn of Georgia and Rep. Les Aspin of Wisconsin, are pressing the point. Negotiations have been going on in Vienna since 1973 on what the United States and its allies call "mutual and balanced" reduction of forces in Central Europe.

Seeing Is 'Like Being Reborn'

SEMINOLE, Fla. (AP) — "He was almost in tears when he said he could see me standing in front of him," said a doctor who restored the sight of an Italian truck driver blinded in a hunting accident two years ago in his hometown near Rome. "His wife didn't know whether to cry or die," Dr. John Stewart, the ophthalmologist, said after pronouncing the operation on Marino Menichetti a success.

Through a new and complicated technique called a vitrectomy, Stewart was able to restore vision in Menichetti's left eye. Damage to the right eye was irreparable.

The first thing Menichetti, 44, said he wants to do is return home and "take a good look at my children." He has a son 13 and a daughter 12. "It's like being reborn," he said as the bandages were removed.

Menichetti, a trophy-winning marksman, was hunting with friends from his hometown of Orvieto near Rome two years ago when the accident occurred. A friend's shotgun sprayed backshot into both his eyes.

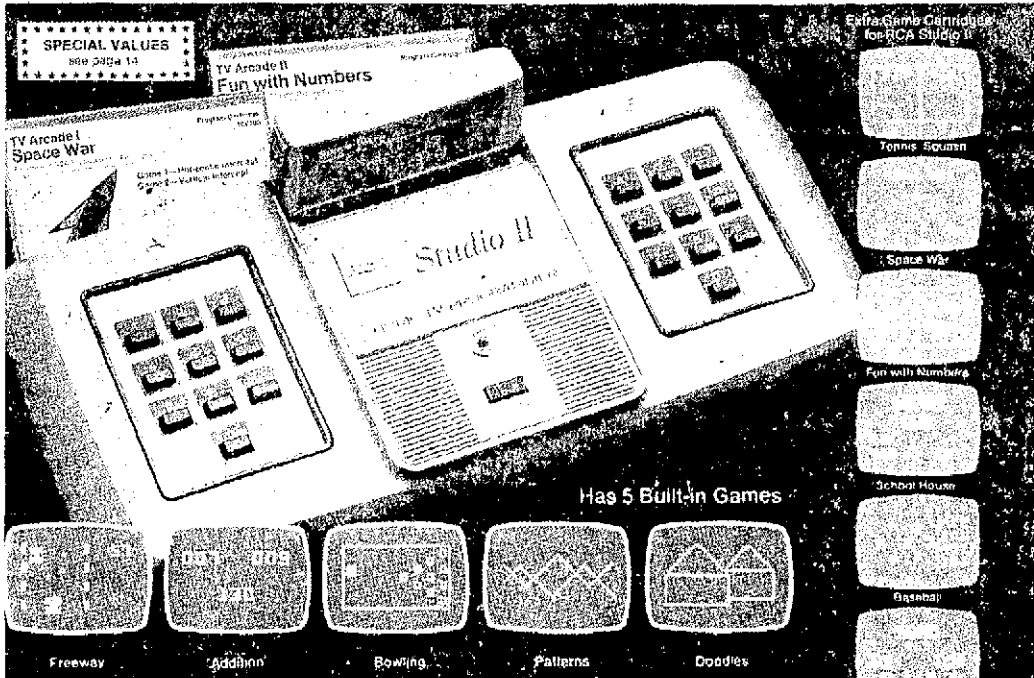

In the four-hour surgical procedure, Stewart replaced clouded eye fluid with a clear fluid. Stewart, 40, was traveling in Europe 15 months ago and examined Menichetti at the request of mutual friends.

The doctor mastered the technique, acquired some of the needed equipment, and performed the $3,000 operation without charge. Medical care at University General Hospital was also without charge.

Friends in Orvieto bought plane tickets for Menichetti and his wife, Pierina.

Dancing Proves Good Bedrock For Stardom

Q: I just saw that show, "A Chorus Line," on a visit to New York, and can't imagine a more difficult and depressing way to make a living than being one of those dancers. Have any successful people actually ever come out of such a weird background? — P.W., Seattle.

PEOPLE
By Robin Adams Sloan

A: How about Lucille Ball, Ginger Rogers, Carol Haney, Audrey Hepburn, Paulette Goddard, Shirley MacLaine, Gwen Verdon, Joan Crawford, Barbara Stanwyck, Van Johnson, Stanley Dunen (the director) and, of all people, Jimmy Cagney. In fact, sometimes it seems about the only star who didn't come from the chorus line ranks was Bela Lugosi. "LIKE FATHER, LIKE SON: The gossip in Paris these days is that the son of that great ladies' man, the late Aly Khan, seems to have taken up where his father left off. Karim, who has been married for eight years to British socialite Sally Poole, has been linked with two gorgeous women.

Q: I heard that "A Bridge Too Far" was producer Joe Levine's swan song. He wanted to do one last giant extravaganza and then quit. True? — J.H., Paterson, N.J.

A: Totally false. The feisty 72-year-old producer is just getting ready to film his 494 feature — the scary thriller, "Magic," from the William Goldman best-seller. Levine has six more projects he wants to finish by his 75th birthday and that will mean 500 pictures in 40 years in the movie business. No swan songs for him.

CAGNEY: In the chorus line, too

A: Most reviewers catch their films in the comfort of a private screening room, and some of the less serious ones do find the atmosphere conducive to nodding off. Usually, they rely on spoon-fed publicity handouts for their vital information. At a recent screening of "Looking for Mr. Goodbar," a certain reviewer waved a synopsis at a Paramount executive after the film had ended, and asked excitedly, "Which one played Mr. Goodbar?"

Q: Is Margaux Hemingway still being groomed to become a big movie star? — W.O., Amsterdam, N.Y.

A: Since Margaux's first film, "Lipstick," was not a critical success for her, she's been concentrating on fulfilling her million-dollar modeling contract with the Faberge perfume and cosmetics people. But "Babe" hasn't ruled out films entirely. In fact, she's going to play the lead in "Department Store," a movie to be shot in a Gimbels store in Philadelphia. Since Margaux's marriage to hamburger heir Errol Wilson went sour, she's apparently in the mood for some new movie adventures.

BARGAIN HUNTER: The 1977 award for Compulsive Shopper of the Year ought to go to Adnan Khashoggi, the multimillionaire arms dealer. This year, among other things, he brought actor Bill Holden's Safari Club, a luxurious hideaway in Kenya. But that million-dollar purchase was topped by the most recent plaything he picked up — the French luxury liner S.S. Franco. Khashoggi picked up this little yacht, which has been in drydock since 1974, for a mere $14 million. The fantastically rich Saudi Arabian outbid both the Russians and the Chinese to acquire the 66,348-ton liner. We hear he plans to take a thousand friends cruising in the Mediterranean next spring.

Q: What has happened to that movie Mae West is doing? — J.M., Lincoln, Neb.

A: Mae's latest movie, "Sextette," is finished but lacks a distributor. So you may have to wait awhile to see Mae, along with the usual complement of husky males. But it should be vintage West since Mae wrote it as well as starred in it. When the film does open, however, Mae plans to show up at premiere ceremonies and announce that all proceeds are going to charity.

KARIM: Like father, like son...

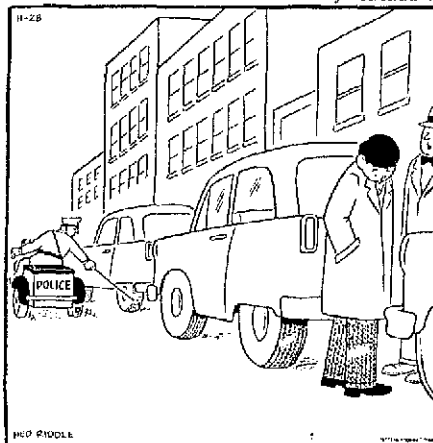

LEVINE: On to number 500

November Bad News For Lakes Shipping

By GEORGE VARGO

November on the lakes is the worst month of the year for ships and the crew. March goes out like a lion, and November comes in with hurricane forces. Ships go down, strand and are wrecked by the November storms. Men battle for their lives as gales batter the shore and ships.

In the early days of shipping on the Great Lakes before life-saving stations were established, very little could be done to aid a ship that was disabled, foundering, or stranded and in danger of breaking up.

Sometimes another ship could get to the side of the distressed vessel and remove the crew or get near enough to pass a line aboard and tow the ship to safer waters. If, however, a ship ran into trouble during a violent storm there was little onlookers could do but stand helplessly on the beach while the ship broke up and then watch for any survivors who might be washed ashore.

It is hard to believe when one sees the equipment at a Coast Guard station today that at one time the men pulled the beach carts by means of ropes over their shoulders to many of the wrecks, as horses were not always available. Instead of power boats such as are used now to reach a disaster quickly, the men rowed for long hours. The service has proved that down through the years they were as their motto says "Semper Paratus" — Always Ready. "Whenever life is in danger the Coast Guard is doing his job.

Hard aground and ice-covered was the Myosotis off Silver Beach in November of 1887. Apparently waves washed over her and froze when she went aground. Built in 1874, the 317-ton vessel was wrecked but without loss of life.

That was a rough year and

Another Vargo Account

EDITOR'S NOTE:
Another true account of the ships and men in the heyday of shipping on the Great Lakes is written by George Vargo, 1409 Jennings Ave., Benton Harbor. Vargo, a retired sailor, is an amateur historian of those days.

Beers Directory lists 204 lives lost and $2.5 million in property loss. There were 73 vessels destroyed, aggregating 20,687 registered tons and including 16 steamers, 43 schooners, six low barges and eight tug boats for a loss of $792,000 in hulls and $408,000 in cargoes. Yet this loss in boats represented less than half of the new tonnage built during the year, Beers reported.

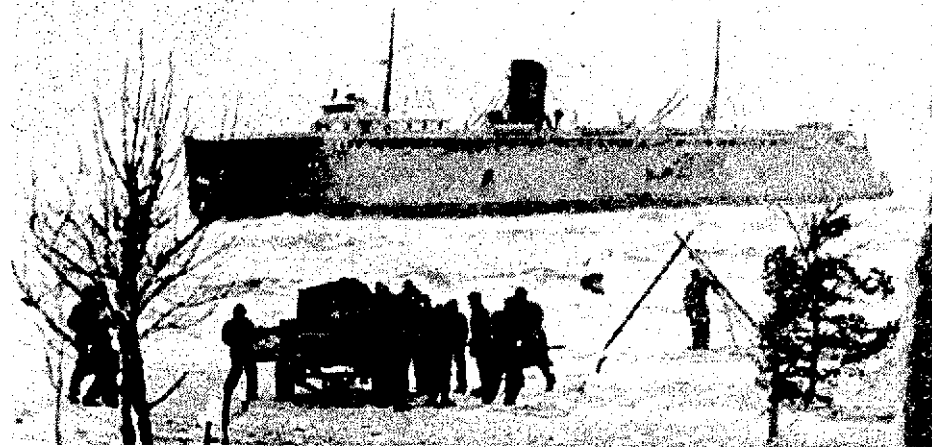

There were 100 boats built, including 55 steamers, 14 tugs, nine steam yachts, two steam piledrivers and 20 schooners and schooner yachts. They were good years and had ones in those days. Work was plentiful and shipyards were doing a thriving business in ports from Michigan City to the Straits. Saugatuck led the ports in shipbuilding, and Grand Haven as well as St. Joseph and Benton Harbor turned out new ships.

Lumber was king in those days and as fast as vessels came off the ways they went into hauling lumber from all ports to Chicago. After the great Chicago fire, the city was getting thousands of feet of lumber.

Wrecks were numerous as Captains drove their ships pell-mell during the boom. Timbers, shingles, fence posts, wire and every kind of material went to rebuild the city, which turned out to be the second largest in the United States. Wages were small but the people were happy. Of course fights and brawls developed among shipping interests and land owners. Transportation was the water route because it was cheaper. Bulk cargoes were plentiful.

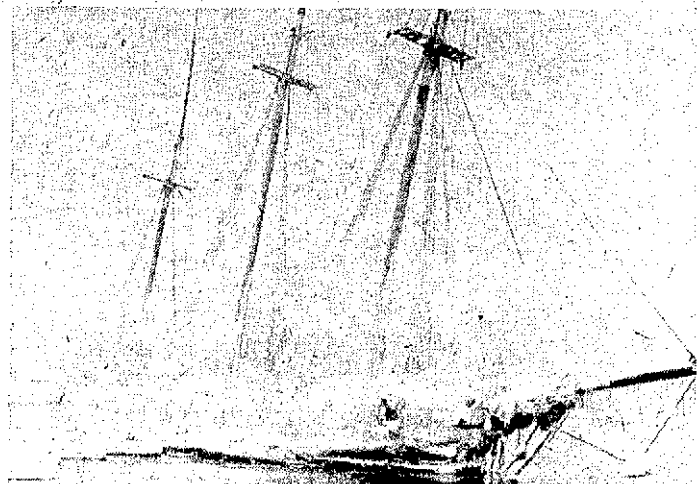

Ships still sail the lakes and numerous disasters still mar the scene. Not only wooden ships went down but the steel ones as well have been vulnerable in later years.

Sailing light from Milwaukee

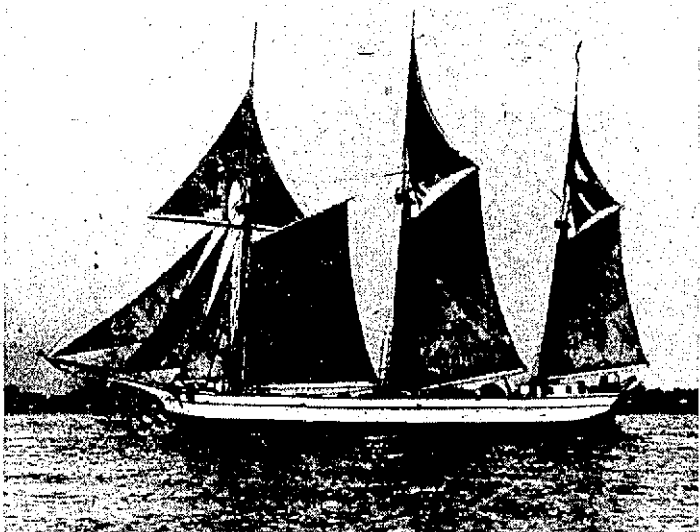

AGROUND AT LUDINGTON: Scuttled and aground at the beach at Ludington, the City of Flint was put there during the giant storm of Armistice Day in November of 1940. After storm abated, she was pumped out, towed off the beach and a short time later was back in service. Crew and passengers stayed aboard during ordeal, but men ashore rigged breeches buoy on shore in case of danger to their lives.

FROZEN OFF SILVER BEACH: The sailing ship Myosotis went aground at Silver Beach, St. Joseph, in a November storm in 1887. She looked like this after winter seas washed over her and froze her solid. Original photo is from Edith Hobbs, daughter of one-time mayor of Benton Harbor, Fred Hobbs, who also was owner of Benton Transit Co.

WHITE WINGS: The Hattie Hutt, one of many early lake vessels built at Saugatuck, was one of many "White Wings" that looked so pretty coasting along with the wind. Big blows, however, were hard on many of them, and if they weathered the storm they still came out with torn and tattered sails.

FIVE-SCHOONER TOW: Five sailing schooners are towed from harbor by steam tug in early days of navigation on Great Lakes. Their huge modern successors are still vulnerable to the fury of November storms on the big lakes. Schooners were prominent in hauling lumber and other supplies used in rebuilding of Chicago after that city's great fire.

ON ROCKY SHOALS: Sailing light from Milwaukee to Escanaba, the Bartleme broke her back on rocky shoals at the edge of Cana Island in Lake Michigan during a November gale. She laid there months and salvagers had already stripped her when picture was taken.

In one of those fall blows, the Bartleme was enroute to Escanaba for a cargo of iron ore for Cleveland. At a length of 352 feet, she was a well built steel ship launched at Bay City in 1895. Slowly on her 13th trip she hugged the west shore of Lake Michigan that night when suddenly there was a heavy jar forward accompanied by a grinding noise. She fetched up on rocky shoals and the steamer was fast aground on the southeast point of Cana Island.

Due to the inclement weather, hampered by northeasterly winds and heavy fog, the wrecking tugs were unable to reach her for several days. When they finally got out to her they found that the boulders on which she rested had forced their way through the steel plates on her bottom. They eventually had to abandon the job after bad weather and pounding sea broke her back and damaged her beyond all repair. In the spring different salvage companies went out to the ship and started cutting her up for scrap. By the time fall came again there was little left of a ship that had been valued at $300,000.

Two to four schooners were towed behind a tug in those days hauling lumber to the Windy City. Some lost steerage and lines were severed in November gales, leaving them helpless when separated from the tows. Some landed on the beaches, others were lost with their entire crew. Still many made it through the worst storms.

During the big blow of Nov. 11, 1940, when disaster and great loss of life struck shipping on the Great Lakes, the City of Flint, standing in for Ludington before a big sea and wind of hurricane force, struck the bottom just outside the harbor.

Having lost most of her headway, the Flint drifted off before the sea and made the beach broadside. At orders from the captain, she was scuttled there to keep her from being pounded on the bottom by incoming seas.

For several days, passengers drank coffee, played cards, and sang hymns. Some passengers even helped in the galley with the meals. It was a thrill for most of them who never had such an adventure. When the storm abated, she was pumped out and pulled off the beach by a tug, and was sent to the shipyard, for minor repairs and was in service again.

After 22 years of profitable sailing for her owners, the schooner Pride was driven ashore during a storm and destroyed in Washington Harbor, Washington Island, Wis., on Nov. 20, 1901. The Pride had made several stops at the various ports on the island picking up cargoes of potatoes for the Chicago market. While tacking across the bay for a landing at the dock in Washington Harbor she missed stays when coming around and drifted with the wind and sea onto the rockbound shore. Here she was destroyed by the same elements that had carried her safely to her way over thousands of miles of water, during gale and bad weather alike, since the day of her birth in Sandusky, Ohio, in 1849.

On November 13, 1900, the Pride had struck bottom while entering the harbor at St. Joseph. This stranding not only caused her to lose all headway but also damaged her rudder. Then being at the mercy of the seas and winds, she drifted onto the beach. The heavy seas rolling in soon filled her with water and she slowly settled on the bottom. Seeing her plight, the vigilant life-saving crew sent for a tug while they took off the schooner's crew and housed them in the comfort of the station.

After the sea had subsided, with the aid of the tug they hove the sunken schooner to the dock and pumped her out. On the 17th, after placing most of the salvaged cargo of lumber back aboard her, the life-saving crew towed her outside to the wind and sent her happily on her way again.

Built in 1881 at Toledo, the David Duws was the only 5-master on the Great Lakes. The foremast was square-rigged and she was 275 feet long overall, 372 feet at the beam, and 18 feet deep. The hull was strapped with iron; she had deck beams, but not decked. Her masts were 107, 97 feet and booms 50 feet. She carried jibs and top sails.

In November, 1882, she sailed from Toledo to Buffalo in 18 hours, a distance of 254 miles. In 1883, she was cut down to a tow barge and renamed the Minnehaha. In November of 1889, she became water-lugged and foundered off Whiting, Indiana, with a cargo of cordwood. For over a week she was ashore, and her cargo was bought by a local lumber yard. Two teams of horses and wagons hauled the wood out of her. Her anchor lay on the beach for years after. She disappeared in the gales of that winter.

She had been in tow of the Steamer Aurora with the George W. Adams. The vessels were owned by a lumber dealer from Chicago.

The Minnehaha was valued at $75,000 at the time. She was the largest sailing ship on the Great Lakes when she came from the shipyard at Toledo. Her bones rest off the shore in Lake Michigan.

The schooner City of Green Bay went to pieces near South Haven in a terrible gale. Out of a crew of six men on the vessel only one survived. The captain was among those lost. The ship was bound for St. Joseph from Escanaba with a cargo of ore when caught in the gale.

She was 320 tons, and built in 1872. In the year 1873 she made a voyage from Chicago to Scotland ports, returning to Montreal with coal, thence to South American ports. She then made a passage to Liverpool, and started for Cuba, but encountered a hurricane and put into a Spanish port disabled. After two years on the ocean the Green Bay returned to the lakes. Her bones lay near South Haven and can be seen when the water is low. Another ship, the Aurora, is nearby also.

The history of the Great Lakes is an interesting theme. It directly concerns many people — those who sailed the waters of the lakes, those interested in their tributary resources, those who dwell in the populous cities. Few, indeed are the residents of America to whom there have not become benefits, direct or indirect, from the masterful influences radiating from their shores. It is difficult to fully appreciate the debt which

GEORGE VARGO

America owes to her inland seas.

Coal, ore, limestone as well as oil and other products are still being hauled by ships, just as it was a century ago. The inland seas have been blustering at times and November has added more disasters to its toll of shipping than any other month. The big ships now carry more than ever through heavy seas. Sleet, snow, fog and mountainous waves and winds of 75 to 80 miles an hour are common on the lakes in November.

Although modern equipment is in use, ships still disappear in storms. The powerful mutters which drive them are pretty weak when storms attain destructive force. A 20,000-tonner can become helpless in seas which wash over pilot house and water sweeps into the funnel, the engine room and galley, wrecking everything in its path. Pots, pans, dishes and chairs are thrown around like matches.

"They that go down to the sea in ships, that do business in great waters; these see the works of the Lord, and His wonders in the deep." Psalms 107-23-4.

Vietnam War Vet Held After Spree

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — The nightclub was packed — mostly parents and children — for Dave Wingert's puppet show. The lights were dimming, and Wingert promised "something new and different."

Then came a sound like firecrackers — and a stunned moment or two before it sank in that this was not part of the show.

flew from six shotgun blasts fired by a well-dressed gunman. Another patron was suffering an apparent heart attack.

Horrorstruck, the patrons dove for cover.

Ten of the victims remained hospitalized today in conditions ranging from good to fair.

A disabled Vietnam veteran was arrested early Sunday at his home in Omaha and booked on suspicion of first degree murder and shooting with intent to kill or maim during the shooting at the Club 89 on Saturday night.

Shotgun Blasts Kill 1, Hurt 25

32. Knowles said he would ask that bail be denied.

Among those injured in the hall of shotgun pellets was a pregnant woman, Patricia Allison, 27, of Omaha. She remained hospitalized early today in fair condition and under close observation with multiple pellet wounds.

Mrs. Allison said she did not hit the floor of the club until her father, Hilary Hoising, 54, of rural Hartington, Neb., yelled that he was hit and her husband pulled her to the ground.

"I didn't feel pain for quite a while," she said.

Huising was listed in good condition with an arm wound.

The man shot to death was an off-duty sheriff's deputy, 30-year-old Dennis Lipari, who was shot in the head.

His wife, Ruth, 34, lost her left eye and may lose the sight of the other one, according to Bergan-Mercy Hospital officials.

Cribbs was picked up about six hours after the incident. Police said he was traced through a license plate spotted by a witness outside the club.

Douglas County Sheriff Ted Janing said Cribbs, a native of Omaha who had served with Air Force security in Vietnam, had been given a 100 percent mental disability rating, for which he drew a monthly military disability check of $1,000.

Neighbors, who described him as likeable but eccentric, said he was depressed because he could not find a job.

Councilman Accused

HARPER WOODS, Mich. (AP) — A first-term councilman in this Detroit suburb has been ordered to stand trial on a charge he sexually assaulted his teen-aged stepson. Details of the charge against Anthony Mannino, 41, were suppressed pending his formal arraignment in Wayne County Circuit Court. Mrs. Mannino and another son accompanied Mannino to court for a preliminary examination Friday but they were excluded, as was the public. Mannino has refused to discuss the charges. His lawyer and assistant prosecutor Thomas Dahlen said the suppression order forbids them from discussing the case. Mannino was elected to the council Nov. 8. Officials said they think he would lose his seat if convicted, although the Harper Woods charter is not specific on such matters.

Rich Bank Going Strong

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — In the late 1930s, when most Americans worried about the Depression, First National Bank in Palm Beach was installing electric doors. The pampered few in one of America's richest towns, it felt, should not have to open doors for themselves. Today, 50 years after it was founded, the bank is thriving alongside its elite clientele. It gives biscuits to customers' dogs, has obtained a silver slab for a customer who wanted it for his mansion doorstep, and has even married a couple (marriages can perform weddings in Florida). When the bank found that women needed an hour more to do their banking between noon and evening social engagements, the hours were extended — to 3 p.m.

PRE-ROMAN STATUARY FOUND: Six pieces of terra cotta statuary have been found at Pratica di Mare, a village 15 miles south of Rome. Archaeologists who unearthed the life-size figures on site of ancient Lavinium, where a temple and a tomb believed to be that of the Trojan hero Aeneas were discovered five years ago, said the statues were offerings made by pre-Romans of 25 centuries ago to the goddess Minerva, to whom the temple apparently was dedicated. Lawrence To Try Mediation

LAWRENCE — Representatives of the Lawrence Education Association, a state mediator, and members of the Lawrence School Board have scheduled a meeting Thursday to try and work out contract disputes.

Maureen Duffy, LEA president, said the mediation session is part of a two-pronged LEA drive to work out major stumbling blocks to a settlement.

The LEA's 38 members had negotiation rights on salary, class size and several other issues for the second year of a three-year master contract, Miss Duffy said.

She said the LEA has also asked a Michigan Education Association job action investigation team to come to Lawrence Tuesday.

The MEA team will help the LEA organize appeals for a contract settlement. Law appeals will be made to the community and the board, she said.

An LEA committee already has authority to call for various types of job actions short of a strike, the LEA president said.

In a letter mailed out to school district residents today, the LEA claims the school district is in firm financial condition but has continued to "drag its feet" in meeting needs of students, teachers and community.

The letter urges school district residents to contact board members before the Thursday mediation session.

The Laffin and Meyer deaths were among 22 on Michigan roads and highways over the long Thanksgiving holiday weekend. The Associated Press reported from state police sources.

26 Auto Deaths In Allegan County In 1977

Last year, 20 people died in traffic accidents in the period, which began at 6 p.m. Wednesday and ended at midnight Sunday, the Automobile Club of Michigan said.

Snow and high winds that whipped the state Friday and again Sunday were a factor in several deaths, troopers reported.

Mayron Zahnow, 40, of Imley City, died Sunday in Genesee County's Grand Blanc Township when his car was involved in a two-car broadside crash, police said.

Aina Haula, 76, of Bessemer, was killed when the car in which she was riding ran a stop sign onto U.S. 2 and was hit by two other cars in Gogebic County Sunday, officials said.

Police said Carol Sue Laurson, 23, of Imley City, was killed Sunday when the car in which she was a passenger was involved in a head-on crash on Michigan 46 in Tuscola County's King Township.

State police listed other traffic victims as:

—Karl Schlupp, 65, of Eau Claire, a pedestrian who was hit by a car and died Friday in Sedus Township of Berrien County.

—Richard Pelky, 22, of Traverse City, who died Thursday on Peninsula Drive in Grand Traverse County when he ran off the road and hit a tree.

—Scott Keller, 22, of Muskegon, and William Rizzle, 43, of Muskegon, who were killed Thursday in Muskegon when Keller's car was struck by another car.

—Stanley Mullet, 61, of Saganaw, who was killed Thursday in rural Midland County when his car was struck head-on.

—Bruce Giesen, 17, of Stambaugh, who was killed Thursday in Spaulding when his car ran off the road and hit a tree.

—Ricky Nichols, 19, of Three Rivers, who was killed Thursday in rural St. Joseph County when his car crossed the center line and rolled over.

—Jason Bullock, 9, of Owosso, a pedestrian who was struck by a car and killed Thursday in East Bay Township of Grand Traverse County.

—Harry Jordan, 19, of Battle Creek, and Brinn Wund, 16, of Springfield, who were killed Thursday in rural Berry County when Jordan's car ran off the road and hit a tree.

—Evelyn Peterson, 71, of Breckenridge, who was killed Friday in Gladwin County when her car slipped on icy pavement and was hit broadside.

—Jeffery Welt, 12, and Donald Boukara, 10, both of Rockford, who were killed Friday in Kent County when their sled careened into the path of a car.

Abu Dhabi Will Cut Oil Output

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — The Abu Dhabi government has decided to reduce oil production by nearly 17 percent in 1978, an authoritative oil industry journal reported today.

The Middle East Economic Survey said the move took the major oil companies by surprise, as they had been expecting a modest increase in production during 1978. Among the oil companies operating in the Persian Gulf emirate are Mobil, Shell and British Petroleum.

The planned reduction amounts to a cut of about 265,000 barrels per day from scheduled output for the fourth quarter of 1977 to 1,350,000 barrels per day from 1,615,000 barrels per day.

NEW HEART Transplant Patient Begins 10th Year

MARSEILLE, France (AP) — The world's longest-surviving heart transplant patient began the 10th year of his new life today, saying: "I've always been an optimist."

Emmanuel Vitria said his secret is following doctors' advice. This means examinations every 15 days, anti-coagulants, medicine to fight rejection of the foreign heart and 20 miles bicycling twice a week around a Marseille horse track.

"But I still drink my two whiskeys a week," he said.

Vitria, 57, was operated on in this southern French port city on Nov. 27, 1968, by Professor Edmond Henry and his aide, Jean-Roland Monties. It was the first transplant in Marseille and the ninth in France.

He celebrated the anniversary Sunday night in the Blood Transfusion Center here with Monties and about 300 other guests applauding as he cut into a giant cake. Henry has died.

"I owe a lot to everybody," Vitria said. "And I am going to try to tell people, on the street corner, that to give blood for their neighbors is a duty."

Vitria spends a large part of his time with a loudspeaker on the streets of Marseille urging passers-by to give their blood.

"It's the way I pay my debt to society," he said.

Added Monties: "By collecting blood for people like himself, Mr. Vitria has given his life a noble goal."

The rest of Vitria's time is filled answering telephone calls and letters from the curious and the concerned, offering congratulations or asking for advice.

One was from a 30-year-old Parisian with diseased kidneys who was contemplating suicide.

"At age 30, you have to have the courage to look life in the face. Nothing is lost at that age," Vitria wrote back.

"You see," Vitria explained between phone calls, "I don't lack for things to do. And it's this way every day, at this rhythm."

Aside from high morale, Vitria attributes his successful transplant to skillful doctors and a heart donor who had exceptionally similar characteristics that reduced chances of rejection.

"That's how I live with my old chassis and my Formula One motor," he said.

The reference to high-powered race cars reflects the youth of his donor, 20-year-old Pierre Ponsan. The youth, a French sailor stationed at nearby Toulon, had been fatally injured in an accident.

OVERRUNS HEARING

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate Appropriations subcommittee has scheduled a hearing Thursday on cost overruns and scheduling delays in this space shuttle program, the chairman of the subcommittee announced today.

VICTIM AND SUSPECT: Ulysses Cribbs, 32, right, has been booked in Omaha, Neb., on suspicion of first degree murder and shooting with intent to kill or maim in connection with nightclub shooting spree Saturday night. Trapper Dies Of Heart Attack Adolph R. Greulich, 56, of 1705 Kay Drive, Benton Township, died Friday of an apparent heart attack while checking muskrat traps in a swampy area near his home, according to police.

The body was recovered from the area known as the House of David Swamp, shortly after 9 a.m. Saturday by friends, accompanied by Township Sgt. Donald Watkins and Patrolman Scott Long.

The officers said the body was located about 10 p.m. Friday by Greulich's son, Charles Greulich, 20, and a friend, Robert Akright. They went for help to recover the body, but when officers arrived blowing snow made it impossible to relocate the body.

Sgt. Watkins and Patrolman Long said Greulich's wife, Betty, reported that her husband had a history of heart trouble and used nitroglycerine, prescribed by a physician. The officers said Paul Tam, M.D., at Mercy Hospital, examined the body and reported there were no signs of foul play.

Mrs. Greulich told police her husband left to check the traps about noon Friday. She said he did not return home by nightfall, but had been away checking traps until dark in the past. The son and his friend looked for Greulich shortly before 9 p.m. and reportedly found him face down with no signs of life.

The body was relocated Saturday by Robert Smith, 43, Beck Kraklau, 19, both of Benton Township, Carl Baushke, 24, St. Joseph Township, and Mike Marshall, 21, Niles, who were waders. They were accompanied by the officers.

Mr. Greulich was born Oct. 17, 1921, in Souderton, Pa., and had been a welder at S. & S. Welding Services, Stevensville. Mr. Greulich was a veteran of World War II, and a member of Twelve Corners Community Church.

Surviving are his widow, Betty; a son, Charles, at home; a daughter, Mrs. Paul (Vicky) Sanders, Calumet; three brothers, William Zenak, Summers Point, N.J., Edward Greulich, Benton Harbor and Carl Greulich, Buchanan; five sisters, Miss Emma Greulich, Philadelphia, Pa., Mrs. Margaret Witzner, Gladwyne, Pa., Mrs. Augusta Kosin, Souderton, Pa., Mrs. Steven (Marie) Wahlman, Lansdale, Pa., Mrs. Anthony (Helen) Lancesese, Hatfield, Pa.; 2 grandchildren.

Private graveside rites will be held at 10:30 a.m. Tuesday in North Shore Memory Gardens. Memorials may be made to Twelve Corners Community Church.

The Frost Funeral Home, Benton Harbor, will have charge of arrangements. There will be no visitation.

BUCHANAN AFTERMATH: Young Buchanan man was arrested by Berrien Sheriff's deputies after he was reported to have locked himself in bedroom at his home and fired five rounds from M-1 carbine through bedroom window. Furniture and other items were also reported smashed in rampage. According to deputies, they were told spree began after phone conversation with girl friend. Deputies said man surrendered to officers from front porch later after discarding rifle. No one was hurt although two of-

bedroom window which he said were caused by rounds fired from rifle. At right, Clark and Buchanan patrolman Joseph Kring are shown escorting man identified as Scott Tobler, 17, of Holmes Drive address, from Buchanan jail enroute to county jail in St. Joseph, where he was booked for investigation on charge of assault with a dangerous weapon. Clark said shots were fired as Kring and Anthony Lauricella, a reserve Buchanan officer, were approaching house but were not fired at officers. He said weapon was allegedly pointed at officers as they approached house to talk by person standing on front porch. Clark said steak knife found tucked in back of man's trouser's was seized after he was taken into custody. Parents and two brothers were home at time, but fled to notify police and were not injured, Clark said. He said man threw down weapon about half-hour after officers arrived. Police were called at 9:45 p.m. (Staff photos)

NEWS OF MARKETS

Stock Opener Is Mixed

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock prices were mixed in active trading today as the market absorbed the news of another big U.S. trade deficit.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was unchanged at 844.42 in the first half hour.

Gainers outnumbered losers by about a 3-2 margin among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

The Commerce Department reported this morning that the nation had a record trade deficit in October. The seasonally adjusted figures showed imports exceeding exports by $3.1 billion.

But officials pointed out that the gap was exaggerated by the dock strike that began Oct. 1.

New York State Electric & Gas led the active list, up 1 1/2 at 19 1/2. A 137,800-share block traded at that price.

On Friday the Dow Jones industrial average rose 1.12 to 844.42, extending its gain for the week to 8.66 points.

Advances outnumbered declines by about a 3-2 margin on the NYSE.

In the post-holiday session Big Board volume slowed to a 3 1/2-week low of 17.91 million shares from 29.15 million in the previous trading day on Wednesday.

The NYSE's composite index was up .14 of 53.33.

Tiger Injures Two Children

TUTUNGA, Calif. (AP) — Two Canoga Park children have been injured by a defanged, declawed, 400-pound pet tiger owned by a woman their family was visiting over the weekend, according to the Los Angeles County sheriff's office.

John Applewhite, his wife, Colleen, and their three children were at the home of Dee Arlen in the Angeles National Forest near Los Angeles on Sunday when Mrs. Arlen's tiger, B.C. (Beautiful Cat), ran from the room it shares with her and into the living room, where the Applewhite family was sleeping, the sheriff's deputies said.

SAYS HE'LL MAKE IT
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The born-again publisher of Hustler magazine says the publication will still make money despite his new religious commitment.

You'll find party trays to suit every party need!

Sausage Snack Tray The array of tasty meats on this platter will prove irresistible to all your guests. So just let everyone help himself to favorites like German bologna, smoked summer sausage, and liver sausage, all of which are attractively arranged around a center crown of creamy chicken or ham salad and garnished with sprigs of fresh parsley.

4 lbs. net wt. Serves 12

Assorted Relish Tray Save yourself the time and work of shopping, chopping, slicing and arranging. It's so much simpler to have the Chef at Jewel prepare a ready-to-serve relish tray for you. He chooses only the most delectable relishes: festive spiced fruits; mild-flavored pepperoni; crisp green onions; fresh carrot sticks; enormous black and stuffed green olives; enticing radish roses; delicious sticks of pascal celery and little cherry tomatoes. Everything is beautifully arranged and garnished with fresh parsley. It's a real time-saver for a busy hostess.

Large only 6 lb. 3 oz. net wt. Serves 20

'American Style' Round Submarine Sandwich A look-alike partner for the "Italian Style" sandwich, this "sub" offers a completely different taste appeal. It features lean imported ham, tender turkey breast and tasty mixed ham nestled between sliced onion rings, tomatoes, American cheese, Muenster cheese and two kinds of lettuce on a delicious hard crust white bread with garnishes of sweet peppers, black olives, pimientos and cherry tomatoes.

6 lbs. net wt. Serves 10

Elegant Hors d'Oeuvres Tray Festive cocktail parties or a very special family celebration would be perfect occasions for serving elegant hors d'oeuvres. But now you can save yourself the time and work they require for preparation. Serve one of these magnificent trays instead. Filled with a generous assortment, each includes hors d'oeuvres of whole shrimp, chicken liver, and tasty meat salads. All are invitingly arranged for easy serve-yourself sampling.

Large 2 lb. 10 oz. net wt. 90 on a tray • Medium 1 lb. 9 oz. net wt. 50 on a tray. The Chef suggests: When you place your order, plan on having 3 to 4 hors d'oeuvres per guest.

Cheese and Sausage Tray Surprise everyone with this handsome tray of delectable meats and cheeses. Why? you can please every taste with the generous offerings of sliced bologna, meat loaf, and corned beef, chicken roll, hard salami, New England round ham, brick cheese, Swiss cheese and beer sausage. It's garnished with black olives and fresh parsley.

6 lbs. net wt. Serves 18-20

Cheese Nut Log This delectable treat owes its mouth-watering flavor to a combination of creamy smooth Cheddar cheese blended with just the right amount of rich whipping cream. The result is a fresh wholesome flavor that makes it a delightful addition to any party table — and one your guests will appreciate. Remember, too, whenever you have need of a thoughtful gift for a special friend or hostess, either of these delicious cheese creations is sure to be warmly received.

A Smile...A Thank You... Or A Free Loaf Of Bread

So confident are we in the pleasing performance of every one of our cashiers that we promise you a smile. A Thank You and if we forget, we'll give you a loaf of bread. Now when you go through our checkout lines each of our cashiers will be wearing a button telling you of our promise. So look for that smile and listen for that "Thank You" because at Kroger... We think you're one in a million.

 FAVORITE RECIPE from

1 pint (about 1 1/2 pound) fresh mushrooms
 3 tablespoons butter or margarine
 2 teaspoons all-purpose flour
 Salt and pepper
 Slice mushrooms through cap and stem. Melt butter or margarine in skillet; add mushrooms; sprinkle with flour and mix. Cover; cook over low heat until tender, about 8-10 minutes, turning occasionally. Season to taste. Serves 4 servings as a vegetable. NOTE: For lighter brown mushrooms, omit flour; cook in 2 tablespoons butter or margarine; season.
